(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(Special Dis-patch.) The sale of California fruit, brought over by the St. Louis, took place in Covent Garden Market today and was rather disappointing. Despite the excellence of the stock and the fact that there was no competing fruit in the market, the sale was tame and buyers were extremely shy. They declined to give any reason for their disinclina-to buy, except that they did not want the varieties which the consignment comprised.

Pears in large boxes brought an average of 12s, and peaches, 6s. Twenty boxes of fine apples, shipped as an experiment, brought 5s, proving that California apples cannot compete with apples here. The consignment paid a small profit, but the agent of the California Fruit Company was greatly disappointed that the fruit did not fetch fancy prices. fancy prices.

"FROG" DAVIS.

The Murderer Dies Proclaiming Himself a Brave Man.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

TAHLEQUAH (I. T.,) Sept. 13.—

"Frog" Davis, who killed Sheriff J. Musgrove of the Cownee district last summer, was executed at the national prison yard at this place today. He protested his innocence up to the last moment, in the hope that something might be done to stay the execution. Only a few moments before climbing the scaffold he confessed.

On the gallows he made a long talk, saying that he was the bravest man that ever died on a scaffold. Not a tremor passed his lips, and he seemed perfectly at ease. He did not regret the crime. He said he would have killed Musgrove's entire posse had they not been hidden behind trees. Within twelve minutes after the drop fell Davis was dead, having died of strangulation.

raven has made the following explana-tion of his views: 3
"I am quite satisfied that I cannot, off New York, sail a race for the Amer-ica's cup under satisfactory conditions. The situation is;
"I do not believe that I have a superior boat.

The Sun, which throughout has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says that the feeling has grown up here that fair competition must not be looked for in a contest for the cup, but adds that it does not sympathize with that view.

The Evening News says that the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our American friends very much, but our newspapers give them to understand that we cordially indorse Lord Dunraven's retirement in disgust from a contest involving so much rowdyism and unfairness.

HE'LL RACE NO MORE. "I do not believe that I should be subjected to an insult from the regatta committee of any yacht club or from subjected to an insult from the regatta committee of any yacht club or from the representative of any challenged syndicate. It was not my way; I was forced to it.

"There is no difference of opinion aboard our boat. It is a simple matter of refusal to sail under existing conditions and rules.

"I know that I cannot get a show. I saw Haff put up his helm, or thought that I saw it. I have no criticism to make upon Watson. He turned out a good boat. She crossed the Atlantic Ocean, and if she could not win it is not the fault of Watson. Watson is not responsible, and, of course, you know it, from my actions.

"The Valkyrie is my yacht."

The Atlantic Club contemplates an attempt to arrange a race or a series between Valkyrie and Defender for a special cup to cost about $2000. The members of the club will propose either one race or two out of three, and several of them are anxious to wager Dunyaven $2000 that the cup will be worked.

members of the club will propose either one race or two out of three, and several of them are anxious to wager Dunraven $20,000 that the cup will be won by the Defender. Dunraven will be allowed to arrange the details if the plan materializes; to choose the waters between Sandy Hook and Marblehead, and the date withis the limit of October 10: to arrange that the public be kept in ignorance or the date, and to select rules of either the New York, Atlantic or Larchmont clubs, the three leading clubs of the country, to govern the race.

After this report was given out C. Oliver Iselin arrived at the clubhouse in a pouring rainstorm, and, in company with Woodbury Thorne, went to the room where the Regatta Committee and the America's Cup Committee were holding a joint session. Thorne later came down and to the newspaper men he said he did not believe Iselin would consent to race over the Marblehead course, even if a $10,000 prize were offered. He thought Iselin had had enough racing for this year, without taking the Defender way around to Boston with no certainty whatever that the two boats would be free from the excursion steamers.

Shortly after 11 o'clock ex-Commodore Smith of the America's Cup Committee came down and gave out the following statement in his view of the situation:

"There is no condition of the agreement as to the sailing of the cup races that has not been strictly lived up to by the Regatta Committee.

"The endeavor to impose new conditions a few hours before an appointed."

race, aside from the location, to suit the gentlemen representing the two yachts.

Lord Dunraven last night made the following response: "It is a magnanimous offer, but I can say nothing further until the matter has been considered at the meeting of the Cup Committee, at which I shall be present."

Iselin said: "I will race the Defender anywhere, at any time and for anything. It does not lie wholly with me, however."

by the Regatta Committee.

"The endeavor to impose new conditions a few hours before an appointed race by Lord Dunraven should hardly have been attempted; certainly not insisted upon to the extent of imposing new terms which, if not acceded to, might result in his withdrawing from the race if he so desired after reaching and going over the starting line.

"There was no course left but to start the yachts by the committee, nor could any course be taken but to have the Defender sail over the course. Under the rules she was made winner.

"Mr. Iselin offered to sail the race of Tuesday over again, thus making it no race, which Lord Dunraven declined to do.

race, which Lord Dunraven declined to do.

"I can enter into no discussion of the reasons actuating Lord Dunraven in declining to go on with the races. He is a better judge than I as to the course he should pursue and if he is satisfied I certainly must be."

Smith's statement created considerable excitement and comment at the clubhouse when it was posted. Smith said the Cup Committee, after the result of the race yesterday had been announced, notified Iselin that the Defender had successfully defended the America's cup and the duty of the committee was thenceforth at an end, so far as the present series of races was concerned.

far as the present series of races was concerned.

The Regatta Committee held a longer session than the America's Cup Committee and it was long after midnight that the following was posted:

"As there was some delay in replying to the letters of September 10 and 11 from Lord Dunraven the Cup Committee begs to state that the letter of September 10 was handed to their secretary about 11:30 o'clock on September 11 with instructions not to open the same until the decision on the protest had been given by the Regatta Committee. This decision was not reached until 2:30 p.m. on that day and from that hour no time was lost in laying the matter before the Cup Committee, and a verbal reply was made the same evening.

"The letter of September 11 was delivered at the New York Yacht Club at LONDON, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the international yacht races for the America's cup furnished a text for articles in all London afternoon papers. In general the press upholds Lord Dunticles in all London afternoon papers. In general the press upholds Lord Dunraven in refusing to sail over the course yesterday without a guarantee that it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader, the Pall Mall Gazette says that the result is unfortunate and will be deplored quite as deeply by sporting men in America as by the same class in England. The article puts the whole blame for the flasco upon the hindering steamers, and concludes:

lantic. Thanks to the New York Yacht Club and Lord Dunraven, the Defender got the three races. On Saturday she clearly outsailed the Valkyrie and won; Tuesday, the New York Yacht Club won the race for her, and yesterday Lord Dunraven presented the Defender with the third race. The New York Yacht Club, the American people and the few Defender sympathizers in this city must all feel that avictory has been won that reflects little credit on the New York Yacht Club." kyrie III. Lord Dunraven and C. Oliver Iselin are thoroughly disgusted with the whole business, and, though mutual friends have bestirred themselves to patch up a truce in the hostilities, there is no likelihood that the two racers will meet again. This idea is strengthened by the fact that the Valkyrie III, which is at Bay Ridge, is being dismantled and prepared for the voyage back to England.

Gen. Taylor of Boston offered a cup or trophy valued at $5000 for a race to be sailed off Boston, but Iselin declined in these words: "Many thanks for the generous offer. I must decline at present to race the Defender."

The tone of the reply shows that Iselin is disgusted at Lord Dunraven's action in not racing on Thursday, H. Maitland Kersey, who represents Lord Dunraven, said today that Lord Dunraven had said positively that he will not race the Valkyrie in American waters again. It seems both owners are positive that the matter is ended. The press comment embodies many shades of opinion of Lord Dunraven. The opinion most generally held, however, is that he was beset with difficulties, especially abhorred by him, though in some quarters it is thought he was possibly hasty.

character will be under more satisfactory conditions."

In its yachting column the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While in our opinion the Defender, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten the Valkyrie III in at least three out of five races, we cannot but regret that the Valkyrie III had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say the Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous." The Grand Army Folds . Its Tents.

The St. James Gazette says: "Once again the great Anglo-American sport-ing contest has ended muddily in a flasco and quarrel, not an unusual exing contest has ended muddily in a flasco and quarrel, not an unusual experience."

The Globe puts the entire blame upon the excursion steamers and thoroughly indorses Earl Dunraven's course, which "maintained to the full the high tradition of British sports."

Further on in the same article the Gazette says: "We hope that the Earl of Dunraven will consent to sail for the proposed cup off Marblehead. All are anxious to see the comparative merits of the yachts tested, and may the best boat win. Should the Valkyrie win, which we think improbable, neither Lord Dunraven nor any one else would bother to challenge again for the America's cup, which the new trophy would replace. Should the Valkyrie lose, we know Lord Dunraven would take the beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would be brought to a pleasant conclusion, and a further challenge for the new cup be only a matter of a few years. If the Valkyrie III returns without a race it means its owner is convinced that he did not have fair treatment at the hands of the committee, and that no contest for the cup is likely to occur, even though the committee, and that no contest for the cup is likely to occur, even though the committee decided that future races should be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair course."

Another matter of interest was the adoption of a resolution favoring the placing of flags on every public school building and the introduction of military drill in the public school curriculum. There was an adverse report made on the resolution for the establishment of a National University of Patriotism and the report was adopted.

The camp further declared itself against the long parades and marches of encampments in the future. This was brought about on account of the large number of veterans who are becoming too feeble to endure them. It was decided that a special celebration should be held on the next anniversary should be held on the next anniversary of the establishing of the first Grand Army post. The report of the Committee on Pensions was similar to that of last year and was unanimously adopted. After reviewing the work accomplished by the soldiers of the Union during the war and the laws passed in their behalf it says: "In some quarters the old soldier has come to be looked upon in the light of a burden instead of a great and patriotic privilege as he should still appear when viewed in his true character."

Referring to this view, wholly unworthy of a great and patriotic people, constructions have been put upon the laws, wise and just in themselves, by and under which burdens and restrictions have been imposed on these were and under which burdens and restrictions have been imposed on those unable to stand up under them. The just provisions authorized have been grudgingly doled out as though the laws passed in the interests of the pensioner as a just recognition of the obligation of the country were criminal laws, to be strictly construed and the public beneficiaries thereof were public enemies or pirates seeking admission to the treasury of the United States. After commenting further on the justice of the pension laws and the purposes for which they were passed the report continues:

pension laws and the purposes for which they were passed the report continues;

"We demand for our comrades the just due which the country concedes. No niggardly cutting down of pensions under the guise of re-issues. No partial and grudging allowances that cut here and there will meet with the full measure of duty that the country owes to her surviving heroes. Nothing short of full measure, dealt with an honest hand, a liberal heart, will meet with the approbation of the American people. For this we appeal to the grateful, particitic sentiment of the people and we earnestly believe that our appeal will not be in vain. Receding from no position that we have heretofore taken, reaffirming all our previous declarations on the subject, we especially demand a liberal and just construction of the laws passed for the benefit of the pensioner to the end that in his declining years he may not be harrassed with doubts born of distrust or the difficulties thrown around him by an unrighteous or restricted construction of the laws passed in the past to relieve his condition."

Whiskers Peffer Says He'll Repudiate Any More Bonds-An Ala-bams Man Wants Blood in

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The news that $4,500,000 had been withdrawn today from the sub-treasury at New York for export was received here with surprise, and the announcement created for the moment something like a sensation in the Treasury Départment. This feeling, however, was not shared by the high officials, who apparently rhis feeling, however, was not shared by the high officials, who apparently egard the withdrawal as incident to the speculative spirit that seems to pervade Wall street. By some officials it is thought that the withdrawals are made with the sole purpose of forcing another bond issue. It can be stated, however, pri excellent authority that there will not be another issue of bonds, and that none will be needed.

Those cognizant of the facts state Those cognizant of the facts state that the Morgan-Belmont syndicate under the terms of the contract undoubtedly will protect the gold reserve against the inroads of speculators, and will see to it that a reasonable balance is maintained. No doubt is expressed that as soon as the grain spipments from the Northwest come in there will be an abundant supply of foreign bills on the market to meet every demand, and the withdrawals, it is thought, must necessarily cease.

J. Pierpont Morgan, head of the government bond syndicate, when asked as to rumors of dissolution of the syndicate, replied: "The syndicate is still in the field. There has been no kupture. The syndicate will continue to do all it can to help maintain the treasury gold reserve at the $100,000,000 mark. The obligations of the syndicate expired, however, some time ago."

Morgan expressed surprise at the slow movement of the cotton crop and the present scarcity of bills against breadstuffs. He said that undoubtedly the offerings of those bills would be daily increased in the next few weeks, thus forming a safe-guard against exports being made.

The president of a large downtown bank said that the syndicate was accumulating gold as fast as possible, and this would be turned over to the treasury. The example of the Hanover National Bahk in depositing $500,000 this morning for greenbacks is expected to be followed this afternoon by a number of other New York banks.

The announcement that New York banks had deposited $2,400,000 in gold, with the promise of a considerable addition to that amount, was quite as much of a surprise at the Treasury Department as the earlier news of the withdrawals. This prompt action of the banks was favorably commented upon and the feeling of depression and anxiety that prevailed in the department this morning gave place to one of confidence.

this morning gave place to one of confidence.

Even those who by reason of their long experience are best able to judge of the situation express themselves at A loss to account for the continued apparently increasing demand for gold. Never before in the history of the department they say has the financial condition of the dountry contained so many contradictory elements and never before have the officials been unable to give an intelligent forecast of what was likely to result from the next Congress. At this time, they said, everything seems going counter to the general expectations. Several months ago it was stated that the supply of whistey withdrawn from bond just before the anticipated increase in the internal revenue tax was about exhausted and that the next few weeks would see a material decrease in ut exhausted and that the next rew kes would see a material decrease in revenues from that source. But the gues have fallen far below expecta-s with no-prospects for an advance, the receipts from customs sources also confidently expected to adnecessary importations would show a marked improvement. It was pre-dicted also that as the canning season appraached the sugar importations appsached the sugar importations would add materially to the receipts and yet none of these expectations has been fully realized. Although the receipts from internal revenue and customs show some improvement there is a wide difference between the actual figures and the confident expectations of the officials. Whether the anticipated cotton and grain shipments will relieve the situation, so far as gold exports are concerned, remains to be seen. The amount of the exportations of gold during the last twenty months is unprecedented.

Since January 1 of last year the gold coin and bullion exported from the United States aggregate about $169,284,300, while the importations during the same period amount to only $48,813,500, which leaves the excess of exports over imports about $120,470,800.

REVIEW OF THE DAY. W YORK, Sept. 13.—This day was NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—This day was an exciting one and for a time bade fair to be a critical one in the financial field, and it was feared that it might pass into history as a small reproduction of the Black Friday of years ago. But tonight the disturbing elements are better understood and the outlook for the treasury and the maintenance of its gold reserve is comparatively clear.

Uncertainty as to the intention of the government bond syndicate to maintain the reserve at the century mark and as to its ability to do so had disturbed the moneyed interests increasingly throughout the week. A crisis was reached this morning when the aninouncement was made that the firm of Lazard Freres, which is a member of the bond syndicate, had engaged $2,50,000 gold for shipment. This announcement maturally gave rise to the impression that the syndicate had withdrawn from its controlling position behind the throne, and it sent quotations tumbling in Wall street, besides starting stories that the syndicate had dissolved; that a bond issue was immenent and the treasury was drifting back to its old position of the dark days of last winter.

Before the afternoon had passed, however, the city banks had come to the aid of the sub-treasury with deposits of gold made in exchange for sreenbacks; explaintions had been made by members of the syndicate and the firm which started the panic, and quiet had been restored when the moneyed institutions closed their doors for the day. The gold deposits made by the banks will offset the shipments tomorrow. The Hunover National Bank et he example with a deposit of $20,000. That made $3,400,000 in gold that the Hanover Bank has placed in, President Howard said, since the last lean was made, and the American Exchange for the shipments toward said, since the last lean was made, and the American Exchange for the shipment of the treasury $200,000, and the National Bank at Commerce followed suit with another $200,000. With reference to this deposit of the followed suit with another $200,000. With reference to the shipment of the shipment shipment shows the shipment should be shipment. The sold deposit of the shipment s if all the banks contributed gold in the same proportion there would be no further difficulty. The National City Bank is credited with an intention to deposit $500,000, or double that amount. It is said in banking circles that the deposits of gold by the banks for green-backs will reach $6,000,000 this week. The known shipments to Europe tomorrow will be $2,500,000 by Lazard Freres, $1,900,000 by Cossman & Bro., $500,000 by Handy & Rand and $100,000 by Nesslage & Fuller, while Handy & Harman will forward between $150,000 and $200,000. This will make a total for the week of $7,200,000, the largest weekly shipment on record, except the $7,700,000 sent out in one week last January, when the drain on the reserve reached its highest tide. Explanations of the position of the bond syndicate toward the treasury and of the reasons impelling Lazard Freres to combat the policy of his colleagues were secured by the Associated Press. The following statement was authorized by the bond syndicate tonight:

J. P. Morgan, the head of the bond syndicate, spoke reassuringly of the outlook to a reporter of the Associated Press. He said: "The bond syndicate is still in the field. There has been no rupture. The following statement was made in writing by Lazard Freres:

"Hoping that bills of exchange against merchandise exports would come into the market in fair amounts during the first half of September, we continued for a long time to supply our customers with bills of exchange for which we could not at the time find cover. A combination of circumstances leaves the market bare of commercial bills and makes necessary the shipment of gold to cover part of the accumulated indebtedness, and to continue supplying the daily demands of the trade.

"The reasons for these conditions are, in part, the late cotton crop and the slow movement thereof by Europeans holding large quantities."

"The reasons for these conditions are, in part, the late cotton crop and the slow movement thereof by Europeans holding large quantities of cotton at cheap prices, and its indisposition to buy freely at quotations now ruling. Further reasons are the poor demand for wheat at the center, which makes it undesirable for European bankers to increase their loanable funds here."

"In reply to questions a member of the increase their loanable funds here. 'In reply to questions, a member of the firm said he desired to state that there was no special significance in the shipment of gold, but that it had to go to meet a temporary emergency, and that with the moving of the cotton crop in a few weeks the whole difficulty would shipust itself.

Col. Troy endeavors to explain under what circumstances the use of force at voting places would be legal and justifiable. He regards the wilful refusal of the county officials to have in the board of election inspectors an intelligent representative of the opposition whenever practicable to do so, as sufficient evidence of a fraudulent purpose to debauch the election franchise, and an honest law-abiding citizen, he asserts, has the same right to prevent the election being held by them as he has to prevent any other violation of the law in his presence. He thinks that under these circumstances whatever force is necessary to stop the election should be used, even though blood has to be shed.

other issue of bonds is made without the authority of Congress I shall advise their repudiation."

These are the words of Senator Peffer, used in speaking about the probability of another bond issue, to an Associated Press reporter today. Senator Peffer has kept his eye on the figures which tell of the condition of the gold reserve. None have watched it sliding down below the $100,000,000 mark more anxiously than he. It was he who objected very emphatically in the United States Senate when the first and subsequent bond issue were made. "I considered the bond issue fraudulent, and I have not changed my position since then," said he. "I still think that the government has no authority to issue bonds without the concarrence of Congress. I am satisfied that there will be another bond issue before October, because the bond syndicate has been given the privilege."

will be another bond issue before October, because the bond syndicate has been given the privilege of thing all the bonds issued before then. There is only one thing which may prevent a bond issue, and that is the fear that it will weaken the Democratic strength. They are making herole efforts to strangle the free-silver sentiment in all the States, and have to a considerable extent succeeded. Look how they squelched it in Arkansas and Iowa, and nearly all the other States where a test has been made. They are compelling the silver men to go outside the Democratic party if they desire to adhere to that principle.

ins feen made. They are compelling the silver men to go outside the Demooratic party if they desire to adhere to that principle.

"The leaders think that the voters can be whipped into line, said if they find out they can then look out for anorher-bond issue before October 1. The people will be given all they will stand, and no questions are supposed to be asked. At the last session of Congress I was called impertinent because I asked to have the names of the bondpurchasers made public. If there be another bond fisue without authority of Congress I Intend to introduce a resolution advising the repudiation of the bonds. They were issued without authority, and are fraudulent, and the people should not be compelled to pay them. This may not sound well, but there is no use of allowing the people to be imposed upon any longer.

"When the first bond issue was proposed, Secretary Carlisle came to both house of Congress and asked legisladiva authority for the issue. He went so far as to prepare a bill for that purpose, and presented it to the committee of both the Senate and the House. Congress refusing to act, the Secretary gave notice that if he were not authorized by special act he would issue bonds without such authority, and he did so. I called attention to these facts at the time; charged that the bonds were issued illegally, and also introduced a resolution instructing the Judiciary. Committee of the Senate to examine and report whether the Secretary had such authority under existing laws, and the committee dared not report, because they knew there was no such law."

Pullman had met Miss Oglesby but once or twice previous to her visit with his sister. It is said that the acquaintance, thus begun ripened from warm friendship into ardent attachment; in short, a case of love at first sight. First sight or not, it is true that after a month's visit at Long Branch with her friend Miss Oglesby returned to her home in Elkhart, Ill., and the number of letters received at that town bearing the Long Branch postmark immediately increased.

Last Saturday Pullman came from the East to visit his betrothed at Elkhart. He was a guest at the Oglesby

On September 3, two days before the sailing of the Mariposa, Ensign Blue wrote again. He stated that six men were down with the disease on board the Bennington, and that one sailor had died. The other men were doing well, but the ship's surgeon feared that the epidemic had scarcely begun. He had made a careful microscopical examination of the excretia of the sick patients and pronounced it to be a virulent type of Asiatic cholera. "We all feel very blue at the prospect," writes Ensign Blue. The excitement here is intense and this is not to be wondered at for the disease is spreading with alarming rapidity. The Bennington has left her ancorage off Honolulu and gone southward 100 miles. We will return once a week after mail and orders. In one day thirty-five cases were reported at Honolulu, and nearly every one resulted fatally. I hope to be able to give you better news when next I write, but I fear that I will not be so fortunate."

Dr. Blue states that the United States authorities will assist the State and local officers in preventing the entrance of the disease into this country. He thought this could be accomplished by exercising due diligence.

There is general indignation at the action of the quarantine officers in permitting the steamer Australia to come alongside a city dock half an hour after her arrival from an infected port.

Notwithstanding the report that the vessel was in quarantine five days before she left Honolulu, the public does not believe that the quarantine officers had any right to order the ship to land her passengers. It is claimed that the proper precautions were not taken, although medical authorities hold that the life of a cholera germ is only five days.

though medical authorities hold that the life of a cholera germ is only five days.

The State harbor officials do not like the idea of having the Australia alongside a city wharf, but, of course, they are in no way responsible for the acts of the quarantine doctors. Laxity of quarantine regulations caused the spread of the smallpox epidemic in 1867 and 1868. The general opinion about town this morning was that the Australia should have been sent to the quarantine station and fumigated, but the quarantine officials explain that such action was entirely unnecessary. The Board of Health held a special meeting today to consider the choiera epidemic in the Hawaiian Islands. Mayor Sutro presided, and the full board and the quarantine officer were present. The subject of the dread disease being introduced into California was thoroughly gone over and various measures to keep it out were advocated. Honolulu was declared an infected port, and all vessels coming from that or any other port in Hawaii will be quarantined until the passengers, crew and baggage have been fumingated.

any other port in Hawaii will be quarantined until the passengers, crew and baggage have been fumingated.

The State Board of Health is to be communicated with and its members summoned for a conference in the Mayor's office next Tuesday. At that meeting steps will be taken to guard all the ports in California and the rules in San Diego, San Pedro and other ports will be as strictly enforced as they will be in San Francisco. The Rio de Janeiro is expected to arrive from Honolulu next Sunday, and the quarantine officer was instructed to pay especial attention to her. She will be quarantined until a thorough examination is made and all the passengers, more is made and all the passengers, more particularly the Chinese, will be fumi-gated before being allowed to land. The electricity burned off her eyebrows and eyelashes, tore her straw hat into tatters and melted the pins in her hair. On the back porch of the same house sat Joseph Alicolos, a veteran of the civil war. The same bolt knocked the pipe he was smoking out of his mouth. It then jumped to a post three feet away and split it into splinters. Alicolos was not hurt, but the walls of the cottage were scarred as if by red-hot pokers.

The cyclone struck the village of Cape Vincent just as a large excursion, homeward-bound from the Jefferson county fair at Watertown, was about to take the boat for Kingston, Ont. A New Tariff Schedule to Be Fram nd Put in Force as Soon is Thought Feasible.

GRGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The Calfornia Rallroad Commission today adopted Commissioner Stanton's resoadopted Commissioner Stanton's resolution reducing the general freight rates on the Southern Pacific on an average of 25 per cent. On next Tuesday the work of preparing a new freight-tariff schedule will be commenced and the new rates put in force as soon as possible. The reduced grain rate will probably be made operative at once.

In opening the meeting, Chairman The business before us is Dr. Stan-

Larue said:

"The business before us is Dr. Stanton's resolution. I have thought the matter over, and have a few things to say about it. I refused to take the pledge exacted by the Democratic party at the last State election to reduce the rates of the Southern Pacific 25 per cent. But now I do not think that reduction excessive, and the Southern Pacific has not given us a clear statement of its affairs. I think this commission should adopt the resolution, no matter what the courts may do hereafter.

"I believe that the rates of freights and fares in this State, as exacted by the Southern Pacific Company ever since its organization, and now, have been grossly oppressive. This is known to every intelligent man in the State, and especially to those who. like myself, have traveled constantly and made large shipments over their lines. I believe that the earnings of the Southern Pacific system in Callfornia are sufficient to pay their operating expenses, maintenance, and a fair rate of interest. The statements made and the testimony taken during this investigation by those connected with the company, concerning the sale of, bonds, cost of moving freight and other expenditures, were indefinite, unsatisfactory and evasive, but from the information so obtained I am of the opinion that a reduction of 25 per cent. inclusive of the reductions made since the 1st day of December, 1894, will not be unjust nor oppressive.

"For many years the shippers of the State have been subjected to extortion. Satisfied as I am now that such reductions are legal and just, I shall not withstanding my present vote, hold myself in readiness to change or restore any rate which change of circumstances or further evidence may convince me is unjust to the railroad company. I fully realize the fact that we owe not only a duty to the people but to the corporation itself, and I stand prepared to perform mine to either party, whenever the occasion may fusify it.

"I therefore, announce, that upon Dr. Stanton's resolution for a reduction of 55 per cen a schedule and put these new rates in forca."

A vote was then taken on the resolution, which was carried. Larue and Stanton voted yea, Clark voting no.

Now that the Rallroad Commissioners have reduced the freight rates, the question what will the railroad do about it, is of interest. It will be many months before the commission has its new schedule of rates ready to go into effect, and it is stated that before that time has arrived the railroad company will be ready to go into court and test the legality of the Railroad Commission's action. W. F. Ferrin, chief counsel for the Southern Pacific, was asked today what the company proposed to do. He said he was not yet prepared to advise what action should be taken. It is understood, however, that the commissioners from enforcing the rates stablished on a showing that the reduced rates would prevent the company from meeting its expenses.

KEEPING DOWN EXPENSES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The Examiner says that thirty men were discharged from the Southern Pacific shops at Oakland today, and further reductions are to be made in every department of the Southern Pacific Company's service. Reductions will extend to the train service department and the mechanical department before October I, and there will be general dismissals affecting the Western division from Santa Rosa and Calistoga to Sacramento, Stockton, San Jose and Mendota and down into the San Joaquin Valley. This is the result of an order zent out from New York that the working force of the company must be kept down to the same figures that it was this time last year, just after the big strike. WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Navy Department today made public its action in the case of Capt. George W. Sumner, late commander of the United States cruiser Columbia, tried by courtmartial at Brooklyn Navy-yard on charges growing out of injury sustained by his vessel in docking at Southampton in July. The first charge was culpable inefficiency in performing his duty. The court found him guilty in a less degree than charged, in that he did not have proper preparations made for docking. The court ignored that portion of the charge alleging that, as a consequence of that failure, the boat was subjected to severe strains, causing damage to her hull and necessitating repairs costing about $1000.

"The captain was found guilty on the second charge of suffering the vessel to be hazarded in violation of naval regulations. He was found guilty on the third charge, neglect of duty, and the specification that he paid the charge of docking without protest was proved. The sentence of the court is as follows: "That he be suspended from duty only for the period of six months on waiting orders pay, and to be reprimanded by the Honorable Secretary of the Navy." The State Department has received a cable-sram from Minister Tillman at Quito, Ecuador, stating that Alfaro, the revolutionary general, and his army had occupied Quito since the 1st inst. All is quiet there. Vice-Consul Dawson cabled the department from San Salvador that Mrs. Mutchmeyer, an American, died at San Salvador Thursday night. Her husband, formerly United States Consul at that point, died there a few days ago. The verdict of the coroner's jury in

A dispatch from Fort Smith, Ark.. says that George McElroy, Henry Hook, Charles Hook, Dr. John McBland and Thomas Stuffebeam, prominent and respectable citizens of the Indian Territory, have been convicted in the United States Court on four charges of deadly assault and arson. Their case grew out of the stateck by vigilantes upon the homes of Bruce and Eugene Miller, harborers of outlaws, near Jennings, Okia., on April 16, 1884. In the fight "Dutch John" was killed, and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, aged 70; Herman Miller, aged 3, were wounded and both of the Millers houses burned. The detendants were tried and acquitted of the murder of "Dutch John," They have been very conspicuous in their warfare on the border bandits.

Some days ago Gov. Richards requested Judge Jesse Knight of Umtah county, Utah, to make a personal inquiry into the causes leading to the recent Indian trouble at Jackson's Hole. The investigation was sought because of the report sent to Washington by United States District-Attorney Clark, in which the settlers of that region were referred to as murderers, and the killing of an indian branded as premeditated murder. Judge Knight filed his report with the Governor yesterday, it is very long and covers the ground completely. It says Clark's report is wholly untrue. The settlers of Jackson's Hole, he says, are poaceable, law-abiding citizans, and the killing of the Indians was done by a constable's posse, carrying out the mandate of a court. The trouble could have been avided if the Indians had not been allowed to violate the game laws of the State.

ITH a well-dressed lady gloves are as essential as shoes. She wants both, and she wants them nice. And she can get them both just now for the price of the shoes alone. If she buys a pair of $6.00 shoes for $4.00, she has $2.00 left for gloves, hasn't she? Or, if she gets a $3.00 pair for $2.00, she has $1.00, and $1.00 will buy a very good pair of gloves, won't it? Well, this is just what any lady can do now at Gibson's. SWEET ELDER.

Beside the crumbling garden wall,
Beneath the towering maple trees,
Along the hedge, where the apples fall
And yellow bells invite the bees,
I cling and climb
In summer time,

In summer time, And yield a store of rich perfume For all who love sweet elder bloom.

I spring up where the cattle roam,
And make the desert places green,
Where corn and clover find a home
I fill the furrows in between.
My feet are strong,
My runners long,
And though I seem a slender reed,
No aid nor comfort do I need.

I love the atmosphere of June,
The fields when they are fully dress'd;
The birds that sing the sweetest tune
Come unto me and find a nest;
And little girls
With flowing curls
Come hither in the heated hours
And play within my shady bowers.

When autumn comes, with cooling winds,
And gives the hills a richer glow,
My day of recompense begins—
My arms with fruitage overflow;
And all the while
I fondly smile;
For he that taketh aught from me
Receives an offering rich and free.

And when I feel the winter snows,

I will not hide myself and weep;
But I will fondly dream of those Who something of my memory ke
My heart will yearn
For the return

For the return
Of faces that I oft have seen
When skies were bright and fields were

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, Sept. 13, 1895. AN UNJUST COMPARISON. Some the daily papers have been making of the daily papers have been making comparisons between the tax rates of San Francisco and Los Angeles, with the result that they congratulate their readers on the fact that Los Angeles taxpayers are not called upon to pay the high rate of San Francisco, which is quoted at $1.57, as against the Los Angeles city rate of $1.45. What small cause there is for congratulation is cause there is for congratulation is shown by the Investor, which says in ceuse there is for congratulation is shown by the Investor, which says in its last issue:

"The levy this year in San Francisco (which is a consolidated city and county,) is $1.5670, which, added to the State tax of 68.5 cents, makes a total of $2.252, or a small fraction over $2.25 on each $100. In Los Angeles the levy for city purposes is $1.45, the State levy is $8.5 cents and the levy upon city property made by the Supervisors for county purposes will probably be $1.5 cents, making a total of say $2.95 on each $100, or a difference of 69.8 cents paid by the local taxpayer for the benefit of the incomparable climate of Los Angeles, and which he gladly pays rather than risk the San Francisco fogs. The silly and useless habit of quoting the levy made by the city fathers as the tax rate of Los Angeles is often induiged in, and should be discouraged. If the tax this year is to be $2.95 on city property, let the fact be admitted with the consoling addition that the assessment is several million dollars too low."

LOANS ON COUNTRY PROPERTY. The Times has more than once called attention to the disinclination of the banks to loan money on country real estate, and has shown that this course is against the true interests of a section like Southern California, which depends so largely for its support upon the products of the soil. That such disinclination on the part of the banks exists is a fact that cannot be controverted. Some of the banks attempt to deny it. Others come out flat-footed and state openly that they only lend on inside business property.

banks attempt to deny it. Others come out fiat-footed and state openly that they only lend on inside business property.

Mr. Magee, the well-known real estate man of San Francisco, in the latest issue of his circular, deals with this phase of the loaning business. Mr. Magee attempts to show the reasons why banks, as a rule, prefer to lend on city property. These reasons he summarizes as follows:

"First, the large showing of bank loans on city property is partially the result of the fact that city horrowers generally prefer to deal with banks rather than with private lenders, while the reverse is generally the fact in the country; second, city real estate values are more easily determined, for various reasons, than country values; third, the causes determining the value of property are generally more fixed in a city than in the country, and, as a consequence, lenders feel safer in making loans on a certain percentage of value; fourth, city borrowers have fixed salaries, or other incomes, and hence are surer with their interest payments; fifth, city borrowers, understanding business rules and principles better than country borrowers, rarely contest foreclosure, while the opposite is the rule with regard to country borrowers; sixth, city property, which falls into the hands of the banks by foreclosure or otherwise, is more easily sold than country property; seventh, it is easier to ascertain the character of a city borrower than one in the country, with reference to his industry and thrift."

There is doubtless a considerable amount of foundation for these rea country, with reference to his industry and thrift."

There is doubtless a considerable amount of foundation for these reasons, but the fact remains that unless owners of productive country property are able occasionally to make reason able loans on that property the value of such property will depreciate in the public market, and the great horticultural industry of California will suffer a hard blow. Certainly the fruit-growers of this State have enough to contend with at present in the shape of high rates of transportation to the markets of the country heavy charges by middle men, insect pests and other things, so that they can scarcely afford to stand the further drawback of being discriminated against by the banks.

If the banks of the State continue to act in this fashion an attempt should be made to estable to december of the state of the state to stand the content of the state continue to act in this fashion an attempt should be made to estable to december the state of the state to stand the content of the state continue to act in this fashion an attempt should be made to estable to december of the state of the

ADVERTISING OUR PRODUCTS.

William H. Mills of the Southern Pacific has some pretty good ideas on the subject of advertising the resources and attractions of California. He recently expressed the opinion that California should spend $100,000 a year in making its products known in the East. He referred especially to dried fruits, concerning which he said:

"At present only 5,000,000 people out of the 70,000,000 in the United States use our dried fruits. Not one person in a hundred understands how dried fruits should be prepared, but is satisfied to have a sticky sweetish mass by bolling prunes or peaches, whereas they would get fruit as delicious as the fresh fruit itself, if they would only let the fruit absord the water that has been expelled by drying. That is a matter of twenty-four hours, or even thirty-six.

"Now our plan is to have the orchardists of the State pay for the education of the East, then there will be no more talk of over-production. One dollar for every acre of bearing orchard in California would do the work. Such a fund would, if intelligently handled, pay a hundredfold. If 20,000,000 of people instead of 5,000,000 should patronize the California fruit industry, orchards would be worth $1000 to $1500 an acre, instead of $500. Such profits as would be made out of fruit farms would attract thousands of farmers, and the State's progress would be materially advanced."

advanced."

THE GROCERY BUSINESS. In almost every section of the United States there appears to be a surplus of grocery establishments. If a man is unfortunate in other lines of business one of the first things that he thinks of doing is to start a grocery store-corner or otherwise. Under such circumstances it is not surprising that so many of these establishments should fall to achieve success. In fact it would be remarkable if they didnamely of the sage of the first of the retail grocery man is the readiness of wholesale houses to extend credit for the sake of increasing their trade. In a recent issue of the Interstate Grocer of St. Louis, Jacob Furth, a well-known writer on trade matters, has the following pertinent and interesting remarks on this subject:

"Grocers, perhaps, lose more money on debt than do any other class of merchants. The losses as a general rule are rarely large in individual cases, but they are much more frequent and in the end will, we think, amount to more than the losses in any other branch of business. The causes which contribute to the heavy losses of the grocer are various. The first and principal one, however, is, credit is altogether too cheap. As the Commercial Exhibit, a high authority on trade matters, remarks, there are so many wholesale grocers who are anxious to do business that they are ready at all times to fill orders for grocers to the extent of hundreds of dollars for parties whom they would not trust $10 in cash. Then, again, there are so many retail grocers that it is scarcely possible for all of them to make a living in the business. Every farmer, every blacksmith, every clerk, every barber that has saved $200, $350 or $500, embarks in the grocery business.

cierk, every barber that has saved $200. $350 or $500, embarks in the grocery business.

"It seems to be assumed by everybody that experience and knowledge of the grocery business are unnecessary to the success of the retail grocer. Having made one purchase the cupidity of every other wholesale grocer is excited, and all the dealer has to do is to hint at the name of the firm from whom he bought and every salesman will take his order and report to his house that he is good for his purchases.

"The cheapness of credit brings about loose habits in the retailer. He, too, trusts to parties who have no financial responsibility. Not being pushed by his jobber, he becomes lenient with his customer, and in a little while he has more money outstanding on his books than he has capital in the business. To all who understand the nature of the retail grocery business this is a plain indication of an early decay. All a man has to do in the retail grocery business is to sell on credit to parties who are not absolutely good and in a little while he loses absolute control of his own affairs, loses his customers, his money and his standing. The Exhibit rightly opines that if the retail grocers were made to understand that no goods would be furnished to them as long as bills remained unpaid that were past due, they would in turn be more prompt in making their own collections and more careful in selecting their risks. Of course, one great difficulty in the way of bringing about this desired condition of things in California is the want of laws which will enable the dealer to collect that which is honestly due him. We must have such legislation, and when we get it, we trust that the unseen power "will have mercy upon us and incline our hearts to keep this law."

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

SOAPSTONE. Among the varied mineral wealth of Southern California which the people of this section are only beginning to appreciate, much less to develop, is a large deposit of soapstone on Catalina Island. Two varieties are found—a hard and soft. The stone has been used in several buildings in Los Angeles for ornamental, sanitary and electrical purposes and for lining fireplaces and furnaces. The soft variety is supplied in slabs one inch thick for 75 cents a running foot, and the hard variety in similar slabs for $2.50 per foot. Last year very little work was done on these quarries, but this year they are again actively operated.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that the week is characterized in trade circles by an unexpected turn. This is reflected at markets from which supplies are distributed to these regions. Relatively ern roads show a falling off from August sast year.

Bradstreet's review will say that the danger feature of the situation has been the liability of the treasury gold to depiction. This influence asserted itself in a very unpleasant way, the atrength and confidence the market had exhibited for several weeks, giving place to general fluidation and decline of prices. The movement was aggravated by the uncertainty as to the attitude of the policy of the Belmont-Morgan syndicate. The events of the preceding two or three weeks had prepared the market for such a movement. Stocks had been passing into weak hands, and the large interests which had inaugurated the advances seem to have taken profits. A factor which has influence is the remarkable strength of foreign exchange, and the fact that Europe still refuses to purchase largely of our agricultural products.

Gold Shipments.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The following announcements of igold shipments by tomorrow's steamers have been made: W. H. Crossman & Bro, $1,000,000; Hoskier, Wood & Co., $500,000; Hard & Rand, $200,000; Nesslage & Fuller, $1,000,000. The Hanover National Bank has deposited $500,000 at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks. The sum of $400,000 morning. This is part of the engagement announced for shipment.

Lazard Ferres will take $2,500,000; Handy & Harman, $150,000. The engagements of gold at the sub-treasury up to 11 o'clock aggregated $4,500,000 for export on tomorrow's steamer. It shad a demoralizing effect on the share speculation. The fact that Lazard Ferres are important members of the government bond syndicate increases the already great surprise regarding the gold shipments. A member of the firm made the following statement to the Associated Frees: "We believed that during the first half of Soptember a sufficient amount of grain- and cotton and other bills would have been offering, and the necessity of exporting this gold would thus be averted. Our shipment of gold is an imperative necessity to us to fulfill our business obligations with tow prices ruling for our breadstuffs, slow movement of cotton, and fair supply of that staple already in European hands, are the causes for the shipment of gold.

LATER:—Handy & Harman have increased their shipment to $250,000, making an aggregate thus far of $4,550,000. Zimmerman & Forshay will forward $250,000 making an aggregate thus far of $4,550,000. Zimmerman & Forshay will forward $250,000 of English gold tomorrow. The National Bank have each deposited at the sub-treasury $200,000 in gold in exchange for greenbacks. The National Freal Rank will probably deposit between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The National Park Bank has deposited $1,000,000 gold in exchange for greenbacks.

THE SPIRIT OF ORGANIZED PRO-

It appears that a delegation from the Los Angeles Typographical Union ap-peared before the Board of Supervisors on Thursday afternoon and requested that in future all printing done the county should bear the "label" the Typographical Union. The request was referred to the District Attorney. Just why it was so referred is not apparent, unless it was to place upon that gentleman a supposed responsibility which the board did no

The request was at once impudent and unreasonable. It was also in the nature of a blackmailing proposition for although, perhaps, no threats were the request was in itself an implied threat. The object was to impress the Supervisors with the idea that unless they saw fit to place their necks within the collar of the Typographical Union the influence of "organized labor" (socalled) would be exerted against then

The Times trusts that no member of the Board of Supervisors is foolish or weak enough to pay any attention to precedented demand which has been threats of this sort, whether covert or direct or implied. The matter could and should have been disposed of month ago: by the prompt refusal of the board to so preposterous a request. To refer it to the District Attorney, or to any one else, was giving it more

This request of the Typographical Union was no less preposterous than would have been a request from the Odd Fellows, the A.P.A., or any other secret society, asking that the emblem of such society be placed upon all printing done for the Board of Super visors (which, of course, means for the people of this county.) The "Socialist-Labor Party" might, with equal propriety, ask that its emblem, the red flag, be placed upon all such printing. Non-union labor, which embraces the great body of all labor, might with much more propriety have demanded of the law, to the exclusion of all other labor. Even if it represented all the societies, councils, lodges, cliques and coteries of so-celled "organized labor," the number of persons represented as compared to the total number of persons in the county would still be so insignificant as to be not worth considering in any such connection. AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER. A thoroughly delightful performance of "La Mascotte" was given last evening at the Los Angeles Theater, under the direction of Mr. Modini-Wood. The opera was given with greater smoothness than any of those sung heretofore by this company, a more careful attention was paid in detail, the amateurishness to be expected in the earlier performances had entirely disappeared. The house, though not crowded, was well clied, and the audience bestowed the warmest sort of applause, insisting on a repetition of nearly all the solos and some of the choruses. The costumes were pretty and fresh; the whole company seemed to enter thoroughly into the spirit of the opera, and to enjoy it as much as did the audience. Mile. Isidora Martinez was a charming and vivacious Bettina, and while having no opportunity to display her voice, she sang her part in pleasing and sincere manner. Miss Bernice Holmes scored a great success as Prince Frederick, and was strikingly handsome in the princely costume which suited her so admirably. Her stage presence is extremely attractive, and her gestures are graceful and natural. She was in splendid voice last evening, and was repeatedly encored, her solos, "Dearest Heart of My Heart," and the military song, in which she strongly resembles Camille d'Arville, being especially well sung. Mrs. Anita Ray Simpson was no end of a success as the Princess Fiametta. Her voice is round, mellow and sweet, and she acts as charmingly as she sings. Her solo, "Dream of Me," was deliciously sung, and enthusiastically encored. Her speaking voice is also rich and sweet, which makes her doubly attractive. F. W. Huntley makes a handsome whirlwind of a Pippo, and did some excellent work. F. R. Sullivan, as Lorenzo, was simply inimitable. His costumes were fearful and wonderful to behold, and the huge warts on his legs added not a little to the ensemble. George Dalton was excellent as Rocco, and the scenes between him and Mr. Sullivan were funny. Dr. Ludwig Semler as Matheo was heartily encored in the d LOS ANGELES THEATER. fers for a couple of years is a grievous error and the people are justly indignant.

(Pasadena Star:) The latest Kansas freak, says an exchange, is a man, who, in the firm belief that Kansas at is more elastic than that of the rest of the country, has made arrangements for storing and shipping it, so that it can be used for filling pneumatic bigocietires for wheelmen who wish to achieve prodigies of success. This is in imitation of the Los Angeles plan of filling with the climate of that city the airbrakes of every outgoing train, in the firm belief of its superior efficacy for all the ills that railroads are heir to. (Redlands Facts:) After hearing from persons who have the actual facts in regard to tobacco raising, we feel loath to continue the agitation of this subject. As they inform us, the trouble is not in raising tobacco here, as the finest kind has been successfully grown. So far, however, experimenters have not been able to cure it properly, although they have spent thousands of dollars in trying to do so. We know not what their manner of proceduraths in the constitution of the subject of the confident that the confident that the confident confident in trying to do so. We know not what their manner of proceduraths difficulty will be overcome, after which tobacco raising will become an additional source of wealth to our State. (Riverside Press.) The rate at which Los Angeles is growing is something phenomenal, even for that town. On Tuesday thirty-four permits were issued in one day. A prominent architect of that city, talking over the boom tendency the other day, expressed regret over the too rapid growth of the fown. He had been shrough two such eras in that city, and was certain that, while there was no question of the ultimate prosperity and stability of the place, there would come a reaction that would be depressing. The town was clearly, in his opinion, over-building itself. But for the sad accidents which marred the G.A.R. encampment at Louisville, the occasion would have been both memorable and delightful. The city of Louisville, at all events, extended to the visitors a magnificent hospitality, seldom or never equaled by any city which has heretofore played the part of host to the battle-

No Prosperity Without Progress. (Sacramento News:) Los Angeles is a prosperous city in spite of sound ex-cuses, if it sought any, for falling in with other California cities. Its people are largely from the East, where the battle of life is hard and sharp and where victory, when won, is a crown of manliness. These people came to California and concluded that, after their hard experiences, the way of life was easy under our genial skies. But the old determination was with them still, the spirit, of enterprise, thrift, strife and progress. If they had been looking for fertile lands and greater natural opportunities they would have pursued their way to this end of the State, but they did not. They started in to build a great city, to overcome obstacles, to bring out those qualities that never knew what it meant to fall. They have created a beautiful country, aided, of course, by generous nature, and their chief city is a rushing, progressive community, full of enterprise and energy.

At this time it is appropriate to ob-community, full of enterprise and energy.

At this time it is appropriate to observe that Sacramento is manifesting a kindred spirit. With the new blood that is sure to come along there will be new life, and, we will go ahead even as Los Angeles is going. We will prosper because we shall progress; there is never any prosperity without progress. So Sacramento greets the 20,000 visitors here today and invites them to reason out the city's future for themselves. We do not need to point out its destiny. The lesson is in the air and all may know and feel it.

(Alameda Telegram.) People continually wonder why Los Angeles is always reveling in good times, why buildings are going up and people flock there from the East. Anybody with their eyes half open might know why. The people and the newspapers pull together. The merchants are alive and wide awake and fully appreciate the value of judicious advertising. If any money is needed for a laudable purpose, which will bring Los Angeles prominently before the outside world, there is no holding. To use a vulgar, but terse expression, they dig down and come up smilling. They know what benefits their town benefits them. Why we here in Alameda don't do the same, puzzles me: I have been told that this is merely a sleeping-place for San Erancisco, but acrely that is not so. Advantages! Why we have them all around us. A lovely eity, lovely climate; in fact, specially favored of the gods. If we don't help ourselves, neither God, man nor the devil will help us.

MASTER RALPH'S OPINION OF GRAND-MOTHERS.

Grandmothers are very nice folks;
They beat all the aunts in creation;
They let a chap do as he likes,
And don't worry about education. Grandmothers have noutlins for tea.

And ples a whole row in the cellar;

And they're apt, if they know it in time,

To make chicken-pie for a feller.

And if he is bad now and then, And makes a great recheting noise, They only look over their specs. And say, "Ah, those boys will be boys!" Quite often, as twilight comes on, Grandmothers sing hymns, very low, To themselves, as they rock by the fire, About heaven and when they shall so.

And then a boy, stopping to think, Will find a hot tear in his eye, To know what will come at the last; For grandmothers all have to die.

JUST FOR TONIGHT.

Be still and rest, O tired heart,
Just for tonight.
For He who guides the swallow's wing
In its swift flight.
Knows what the day will bring. Just for tonight lef slip from thee Thy heavy care;
For He who holds the stars in place
In yonder air,
Can dry thy lear-stained face.

Just for tonight, just for tonight

Be still and walt,

For He who leads the morning through

Its burning dec.

Can bring great joy to you!

A BOOK THIEF.

George E. Reynolds came into F. D. Jones's book store on Second street yesterday and offered for sale a handsomely-bound and illustrated copy of J. J. Rein's "Travels and Researches in Japan." He promised to return in half an hour and find how much he could realize upon it.

Mr. Jones opened the book, and found a Public-Library mark. He promptly reported the matter, and it was found that the book had been stolen from the case in the reference-room in which the handsomest and rarest volumes are carefully kept. When the fellow re-turned to the book store for his money, ne was at once arrested.

he was at once arrested.

If he had done no more than steal the book and offer it for sale, he would have been gulity only of petty larceny. But he had attempted to scratch out all the library marks, afterwards writing a name over the places. Worse than this, he had torn out several pages and parts of pages, thus mutilating the book seriously. To mutilate a library book maliciously and with litent is a penitentiary offense. If this excellent law is enforced in Reynolds's case, it will be a good lesson to people who unconcernedly cut pictures out of library books.

Deputy United States Marshal Oaks eturned yesterday from San Quentin where he went with Edgar Wilson and Sam Sorten, who are under sentence for counterfelting. Both prisoners befor counterfeiting. Both prisoners behaved well. Sorten did not appear to appreciate the situation and had little to say. Wilson seemed to realize keenly his sorry plight and said, with tears streaming from his eyes, that after his term had expired he intended to come back to Los Angeles and lead an honest life. He said that if he were unsuccessful in his efforts to make a living honestly he thought he would get a gun, go out into the country and become a lone highwayman.

A Debt. of Gratitude.

(Perris New Era:) The people of Los Angeles, and especially the members of the Chamber of Commerce, are entitled to an everlasting debt of gratitude at the hands of all Southern California for the whole-souled and liberal manner in which they are undertaking to represent this part of the State at the coming exposition at Atlanta, Ga. It is specially generous of them when one Poffects that they will hardly be to obtain kiny benefit from this layish expenditure of time and money until every individual fruit-grower in Southern California shall have first gotten a big benefit. The very ones who have really not been asked to help bear the burden will undoubtedly receive first benefits. The gentlemen who compose the Chamber of Commerce are, asarule, bright, active and successful business men and their action in this matter is but further evidence of it. Their reward may come a little later on, but the certainty and magnitude of it are safe things a different.

The parlors of the Congregational Church were filled last evening with the members of the church, who had guthered to greet their pastor, Rev. Dr. W. F. Day, and his wife, who have recently returned from a tour of the Coast, extending northward to Alaska. The parlors were tastefully decorated with foliage and flags that drooped in festoons from the fixtures. The ceremonies were in charge of H. E. Storrs, who called upon Mr. Judd, superintendent of the church's Sunday-school, to deliver the address of welcome to Dr. Day and his wife. Speeches of the same nature followed from Mrs. Averill and Miss Bixby, each telling of the pleasure feit by the entire church in the return of the pastor and his wife. Mrs. Day responded to the speeches of welcome, with a charming talk, in which she described a few of the scenes visited by Dr. Day and herself in Alaska. Dr. Day closed the programme of exercises with a manly avowal of affection for and interest in his people, declaring his delight at being once again in their midst. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the formal exercises. A CHURCH RECEPTION

It was also reported that on Sunday, October 6, there will be a day of sports at Agricultural Park. It has been announced that there will be a "grand killing contest," in which local butchers will demonstrate their skill at killing cattle. "Shaw did advance me the money, said the woman this evening, but when he gave it to me I gave him a bill of sale of the restaurant. I found I could not make it pay as a business proposition. There was no attempt on our part to defraud Shaw."

"I secured a divorce from my first wife in San Diego, six months ago, said. Kinniman. 'I did not know where she was, and so the summons was published in the papers. I married Mrs. Vosburg in Pasadena on May 21st, before Justice of the Peace Chadwick."

The poor creature, in its search for food, trespassed upon a lawn at No. 606 East Washington street, where it fell among a bed of flowers, and was unable to rise again. The kind people who lived there gave it grass and water and made it as comfortable as possible until the Humane Officer arrived, and put it out of its misery.

fortable as possible until the Humane Officer arrived, and put it out of its misery.

The second horse shot was a starved stray animal, which had fallen down on the river bottom, near the dogpound, and could not get up any more. The owner of this is also unknown. If found he will be made to pay the cost of cremating the carcass.

The other two horses shot were the property of a Swede named A. C. Johnson, who is camping in the river bottom, near the Macy-street bridge. The Swede had six horses, all of which were in a very emaclated condition. Two of them were so this that it was necessary to put a blanket on them so they could cast a shadow.

The case having been reported to the Humane Society's agent, that officer made an investigation, and found the Swede provided barely enough feed for his horses to keep them alive. He accordingly attested Johnson, and took him before Justice Morrison, who released the prisoner on condition that he would pay the expense of burning the carcasses of such of the animals as the Humane Officer should see fit to condemn to the expense of burning the carcasses of such of the animals as the Humane Officer should see fit to condenn to death.

When Hutchins went to pick out the horses that were unfit to live, he was astonished to see Johnson lead out the two best-looking ones in the lot, with the request that they be shot.

"But these are your best horses," said the officer. "I don't want to kilk them."

said the officer. "I don't want to kilk them."

"Yaas, but dese vos bad for to balk, und I got me no use for dem." answered the wily Scandinavian.

The officer insisted on making his own selection, and picked out two old sacks of bones that could scarcely walk, which he summarily dispatched. Mr. Johnson could not get it through his head that the animals were killed to put them out of their misery. He seemed to think he was simply compelled to sacrifice two of his six horses because he did not provide enough feed for that number. He made a great ado over one of the old crowbats that was killed, saying that horse was born in Washington, D. C., forty-seven years ago, served in the Mexican war (which would make him 50 years old, at least,) was taken to San Francisco, then to Fort Caihoun, where he was turned out in the mountains to die, but he lived in a wild state nine years, was captured and redomesticated by Mr. Johnson.

"Yaas, dot vos a vonderful horse."

"Yaas, dot vos a vonderful la said the Swede, "und it vos a to murder him mit a gun." I did not think it a shame to star old plug to death.

The idea that the best way to get rid of a worn-out horse is to turn him loose to die of starvation on the streets ought to be discouraged. If a horse is not worth pensioning after his career of faithful duty, he is at least entitled to an honorable death.

Mr. McDon-ald tells his readers that fruit-growing in California is not all fun, and that there is a great deal of hard work about it, which is undoubtedly true, but it by no means follows that fruit-growing here is a failure. Mr. McDonald is probably one of those young Britishers who have come to California with very little means and have discovered that the development of a fruit farm does not leave much energy over at the end of the day for the enjoyment of tennis, polo and cricket. It is merely another case of a London fruit-grower loose in California with a pen in red raw hand.

The committee met last evening at the Chamber of Commerce. On motion of A. Jacoby, president of the Board of Trade; W. C. Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was called to the chair. Gregory Perkins, Jr., secretary of the Board of Trade, was chosen secretary.

The secretary read the formal call for the meeting. The document set forth the circumstance leading to the creation of the committee, and briefly indicated the committee's powers and indicated the committees positive duties.

Fred Wood moved that the officers of the advisory board should consist of a president, two vice-presidents, a treasurer and a secretary. These five men shall constitute the Executive Commit-

On motion of Mr. Pridham, Messrs. F. A. Rule, Fred Wood and J. B. Wachtel were appointed by the chairman as a nominating committee. While the committee was deliberating the advisory board fell to discussing the duration of the flesta. The trend of opinion seemed to be in favor of a four-days' carnival. The Nominating Committee returned, and presented its report. Dan Freeman was recommended as president, R. W. Pridham as second vice-president, H. Jevne as treasurer, and C. D. Williard as secretary. On motion of Mr. Klokke the ticket was adopted.

A statement to the public was read and discussed. It states that the Committee of Thirty accepts the trust and agrees severally and collectively to put forth its best endeavors for the success of the enterprise. The members of the committee appreciate the honor, but realize that it calls for hard work and careful thought. Since the credit of Los Angeles and of all Southern California is involved in the success or failure of the enterprise, it is well at the outset to consider what constitutes a true success. As it seems to the committee, the points of success are as follows:

First, sufficient money must be obtained to careful the outset.

a true success. As it seems to the committee, the points of success are as follows:

First, sufficient money must be obtained to carry out the undertaking in creditable style. More money must be collected this year than last, since the celebration should surpass in size and elegance those of past years. As subscriptions must be increased, many citizens have voluntarily offered to do so, and many new subscribers must be obtained.

Second, the widest possible publicity must be given to the coming fiesta at home and abroad. Next, the greater the crowds who come to Los Angeles, the greater the commercial success. All visitors must go away satisfied, and anxious to come again. To this end there must be no extortionate charges for accommodations, and as much of the celebration as is practicable given to the public-free of charge.

Fourth, the business affairs of the enterprise must be carried on economically and judiciously. Then all classes of citizens must give their hearty and enthusiastic co-operation. The utmost good feeling should prevail.

Sixth, the artistic success of the fiesta is as important as its commercial success. The street decorations and the floats must be placed in the hands of those specially fitted for the work. In this, as in certain other features, the co-operation of the ladies of the city is expected. The popular elements in the display shall be increased, but due care will be taken to permit nothing offensive to good taste or that pertains to the advertising of some personal or business interest. The committee asks for aid and for suggestions, through the press or by letter. Its members will devote their earnest and persistent effort to deserve success in all these lines.

After a discussion of its points, and a few changes, the statement was formally adopted.

Mr. Wood moved that it be the sense.

After a discussion of its points, and a few changes, the statement was formally adopted.

Mr. Wood moved that it be the sense of the meeting that La Fiesta de Los Angeles be held after the Santa Barbara Flower Festival. Mr. Willard moved that a special committee of three be appointed to draw up rules for the government of the advisory board. Mr. Wood objected on the ground that this would hamper the Executive Committee. Mr. Wood suggested that the Executive Committee should prepare these rules. Mr. Willard accepted the amendment, and the motion prevailed. The committee then adjourned until the call of President Freeman.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

An Interesting "Echo" Meeting Held

Last Evening. A large audience of young people representing the Christian Endeavor societies of this city and surrounding towns, gathered last evening at Immanuel Presbyterian Church to listen to reports and impressions of delegates who attended the International Chriswho attended the International Christian Endeavor Convention recently held in Boston. The meeting opened with a spirited song service led by Rev. A. W. Rider. The songs sung were those used in the convention, Rev. George E. Dye, the first speaker, gave in diary-form an interesting account of the journey of the California delegation in reaching the convention. W. D. Ball, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., followed with a report of the Christian Endeavor movement among college students. Miss Katherine Curry of this city and Miss Belle R. Nason of San Diego, State superintendent of junior work, told how the junior branch is connected with the main body of Endeavorrs. "Cardinal Principals of Endeavor." was the theme of Herbert G. Wylle's address, in which he made prominent the fact that the society should never be less or other than it is. Mr. Turner of San Diego gave an interesting account of the "floating work" at that place, which has resulted in the conversion of about one thousand seamen.

Among the impressions of the Boston convention, given in an interesting paper by Mrs. Jennie L. Throop, was the exceptional interest of the citizens of that place manifested in the delegation from this Coast, and the courtesy extended them.

if the Wallace-circus people would outwit the city fathers in the matter of a circus license.

It will be remembered that a few days ago the City Council adopted an ordinance, raising the rate of licenses, so that the price which the Wallace management would have to pay would be $100, instead of $500, thus making an increase of $600.

This ordinance is now in the hands of the Mayor for his signature, or veto. The proposed raise in price has brought forth a considerable protest from the circus people, especially in view of the fact that the ordinance was not adopted, nor, in fact, taken up, in the City Council until after the circus management and made a large part of its arrangements for exhibiting here.

There has been not a little talk that if the ordinance in question goes into effect, the circus may be held at some easily-accessible point just outside the circus would be held entirely independent of the city government.

A saving of $1100 would thus be made by the show management, and it is argued that for that sum the company could contract with the transportation companies to carry people to the circus, so that the payment of the usual admission fee would include transportation to and from the show.

Such an arrangement would result in the railway companies getting a good deal of money, but the city treasury would not be much enriched thereby.

push the matter at this time. The petition was ordered filed.

A number of property-owners on Flower street were present at the meeting of the board, to protest against the proposed change of grade on Flower street between Fourth and sixth streets. Attorney Pepper represented the protestants, claiming that the proposed change would be a costly proceeding, and, in addition, would entail the disadvantage of causing the water from the hill section to flow down Flower street, thereby causing the residents much inconvenience. As the protestants appeared to have a majority of the territory affected, the matter was referred to the City Attorney for his opinion in the matter as to whether the proposed proceedings can be carried through against the wishes of a majority.

Other matters submitted to the beard were acted upon as follows:

"In the matter of petition from Johnson & Keeney Co., et al., asking to have the grade established on Twenty-first street, between Toberman street and Union avenue, and stating that the grade as now established is what they desire, and that they will improve the street according to grade if it is established as at present existing, recommend that the same be granted and the

A TELEPHONIC SCHEME. What is Said of a Prospective Fran-

Chiac.

Deputy City Attorney Crutcher is engaged in preparing the ordinance by which bids for a telephone franchise will be advertised for by the City Council. It is well known that that ordinance is being prepared, upon the recommendation of the Board of Public Works, which was adopted by the Council, the petition for the franchise proceeding from Herman de Laguna.

Mr. Crutcher said to a Times reporter yesterday that the ordinance, as prepared by him, would be submitted to the Council next Monday. It will not differ materially in its provisions from the franchise granted in 1894 to W. R. Burke and others. Mr. de Laguna had prepared the draft of such an ordinance, which he submitted to the City Attorney, in which it was provided that the franchise should include the right to erect machinery, poles and wires for the irransmission of electricity for telephonic and other purpose. The "other purposes" clause has been stricken out by the City Attorney.

It is well understood that the franchise granted to Maj. Burke and others last year is vold now under the terms by which it was issued. These terms were that the company obtaining the franchise should expend at least 10,000 in erecting its plant and other apparatus, within one year from the granting of the franchise. The worthless.

A prominent member of this company, a man well known in local commercial circles, was questioned yesterday by a Times reporter regarding the plans of the company, under the conditions which now exist. In reply the man of business said that the plans of the company are at this time in statu quo. Without conceding that the franchise was worthless, the man of business did not deny the impeachment. When asked his opinion of the company represented by Mr. de Laguna, he said that the course pursued by the man in question was not such as to inspire confidence in his good intentions or his reputed backing.

question was not such as to inspire confidence in his good intentions or his reputed backing.

"Mr. Laguna," said the man of business, "its at this time engaged in scouring the town, securing subscribers to his telephone exchange, which is as yet wholly prospective, and for which not even the franchise has been obtained. His subscribers sign a contract by which, for three years, they are bound to await action by Mr. de Laguna. Should he fail to secure his franchise, or, securing it, fail to erect and operate his exchange, no other company, or companies, can come in and compete with the Sunset Company, should they desire ever so much to do so, as Mr. de Laguna has a contract with all whom it is possible to secure as subscribers, and he is thus able to rest on his oars, the master of the situation. He holds the key to the situation, even now, and will be in a better position to dominate the same with every additional subscriber to secure as subscribers, and he is thus able to rest on his oars, the master of the situation, even now, and will be in a better position to dominate the same with every additional subscriber to secure as subscribers, and he is thus able to rest on his oars, the master of the situation, even now, and will be in a better position to dominate the same with every additional subscriber his contracts already secured, to prevent his city, has been making a tolerably good living, for some time past, off the imaginary commissions upon three alleged applications for policies. contracts already secured, to brevent possible competition, and will be in an excellent position to be bought off by a company meaning business, which he certainly does not."

Mr. de Laguna was not in his office when a reporter called there, but his clerk produced a copy of the contract which his subscribers sign, and to which the man of business had referred. The contract does not contain over seventy-five words, and is couched in simple language, void of technical terms. By the terms of the contract, subscribers agree to patronize and use the telephones, provided by Mr. de Laguna for a period of three years, after the 'phones have been installed. Mr. de Laguna is not obliged, by the terms of the contract, to provide his telephones within one year of the date upon which the contract is signed.

There is a slight element of romance connected with the efforts of Mr. de Laguna to obtain the franchise he seeks. By some mysterious method he has enlisted in his service a well-known woman, a resident of Pasadena, who is the owner of a large ranch between this city and Pasadena. She is the daughter of Judge Titus, for many years one of the largest cattleowners in Northern California. Mr. de Laguna, it seems, gave her to understand that the electric line he proposed to build in East Los Angeles would eventually run through her property, increasing its value very materially. When Mr. de Laguna was fighting for this railway franchisewhich he did not get—the woman in question was unwearying in her efforts to assist him, and made visitations to every member of the city government who she thought had any influence in the matter."

ple anxious to hear the closing argument of the prosecution in the Platt case.

The day before, Mr. Pierce, in his argument for the defense, had dealt liberally in invective, denouncing Mrs. Dunham, the complaining witness, as "a blistering, brazen perjurer," and accusing the entire District-Attorney's office of conspiring to convict an innocent woman.

A spicy reply was expected when Mr. McComas ross to conclude the case, and the spectators were not disappointed. The atmosphere grew more and more torrid as the prosecuting attorney made point after point, each more convincing than the last. His choleric opponent fidgeted about, hurling in angry tafer-ruptions so fast that the Judge was kept busy calling him to order.

At last, as Mr. McComas was dealing with some zerial fights of imagination indulged in the day before by the attorney for the defense, Mr. Plerce sprang up with a passionate denial, only to receive this withering reply:

"Brother Pierce, your imagination is brilliant, and soars away above the evidence in the case, but the case itself would fare better if you plucked a few feathers from the broad wings of that imagination and planted them in the tail of your judgment."

It was even so, and the case fared badly as far as Mrs. Platt was concerned. The argument ended at noon, and the case was given to the jury. At 3 o'clock p.m. they returned with a verdict of guilty, but in the second degree, and with a recommendation that the penalty be light.

Mrs. Platt sat as if stunned when the verdict was read, and then fell to the floor in a swoon. Remedies were procured at once, but the unfortunate woman went into violent spasms and convulsions, the attack lasting for over an hour.

INDICTMENT WAS FAULTY. The Platt-Harris Blackmailing Case

Judge Wellborn's Ruling. The case of the United States vs. C. D. Platt came up for trial in the United States District Court yesterday. Platt is the jeweler who, in company with Emil Harris, was indicted on a charge of using the United States mails in furtherance of a scheme to extort money from E. E. Crandall, a retired mer

Judge W. A. Cheney, as attorney for Judge W. A. Cheney, as attorney for the defendant, moved the court to in-struct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. In support of the motion he argued that the case was one of sec-ond jeopardy for the defendant, and further that the indictment did not state all of the elements of the alleged crime.

An adjournment was taken till 3 p.m., for the purpose of giving Judge Wellborn an opportunity to consider the motion. At the hour named court reconvened, and he gave his opinion on the motion.

the motion. At the hour named court reconvened, and he gave his opinion on the motion.

He said that the argument that the defendant had before been in jeopardy in the same case he did not believe was a correct one, because the former indictment did not charge quite the same offense as did the one under consideration, as the first trial was for conspiracy. He would not decide on this question, as the first trial was for conspiracy. He would not decide on this question, as there was another important point involved.

Judge Wellborn then proceeded to dwell at some length on the claim that the indictment was faulty. He called attention to the fact that it accused the defendant of attempting to extort money, and of deposling a letter in the United States mails in furtherance of this scheme. Although the indictment charged these two things, it did not charge that the letter was deposited in the mails with intention to carry cut the alleged scheme.

An omission could not be supplied by implication. In order that an indictment may be sufficient it must state all the elements of the alleged crime.

After reading his opinion, Judge Wellborn instructed the jury that, for the reasons given and for the fact that the lipdictment was adjudged not to state a public offense, a verdict of not guilty be returned.

A verdict in accordance with instructions was returned by the jury a few minutes later.

The offense charged against Platt and Harris was that they conspired to extort money from E. B. Crandall, informing him that if he would pay a certain amount they would suppress the publication of a story regarding him. Overtures were made to Crandall, and he reported the matter to the Chief of Police. Two or three officers were detailed to listen to a conversation with Crandall on the matter. This was done, the officers being in hiding at the time.

As the case against Emil Harris is based on the same indictment as the one against Platt the two being indict.

As the case against Emil Harris is based on the same indictment as the one against Platt, the two being indicted jointly, it is thought that Harris will also escape trial because of the error found in the indictment.

eigns Insanity. William J. Busby, the erratic young colored man who tried to poison another colored man in order to get his job, but instead poisoned to death two white men, was arraigned for murder in Justice Morrison's court yesterday afternoon. Deputy District Attorney James issued the complaint. The poison-er's examination was set for next Mon-

James issued the complaint. The poisoner's examination was set for next Monday forenoon.

Busby created a sensation yesterday by affecting insanity. His mother and sister visited him in the morning, and shortly after they left he began to foam at the mouth and bark like a dog. When Jaller Siwilke appeared on the scene, Busby was tearing his clothes to shreds. The jailer had him removed to another cell and strapped down to a cot, in which position he remained about four hours, when he weakened and asked to be released. He was untied on promise of good behavior. He kept his promise and made no more trouble the rest of the day.

The poisoner's father also called at the jail to see him. The old people are heart-broken over the disgrace the young man has brought on the family.

About 5 o'clock Busby was removed to the County Jail, making the eighth man charged with taking human life in that institution.

Several mind-readers and phrenologists have called to see Busby and read his character. They were permitted to do so, but these scientific gentlemen have as yet done nothing to bring the poisoner's victims back to life, or palliate his crime.

Undertaker Lippincott of Pasadena came after the remains of Martin, one of the poison victims, yesterday. The body was removed to Glendora for burial.

Thompson's body will be sent to Child.

Thompson's body will be sent to Chi-cago for burial. Funeral services will be held at Kregelo & Bresee's Sunday afternoon.

MRS. FLETCHER'S DEATH. t Was Purely Accidental-The Driver

The coroner's jury at the inquest over the remains of Frederica Jane Fletcher, wife of Rev. J. C. Fletcher, rendered a verdict of accidental death and exonerated the driver of the team that ran over her from all blame. The inquest was held at the Rogers Block on Temple street yesterday forenoon. A number of witnesses who saw the accident testified that they did not think it avoidable, as Mrs. Fletcher became extited when she saw the team coming down the grade, and ran back and forth, giving the driver no choice of way. The driver was George Grotzinger, an experienced teamster, and he had his six horses under perfect centrol. The team was stopped after the accident, and after waiting about twenty minutes, the party of prospectors drove on.

It was nearly an hour before the police were notified of the accident. Officer Rico, with a horse and buggy, started in pursuit of the prospectors, but did not overtake them before they had reached the Cahuenga Pass. He placed the driver under arrest, and brought him back to the city, arriving shortly before midnight.

A Young Wheelman's Mishap. George Clark, a fourteen-year-old boy living at No. 526 Macy street, narrowly escaped death while crossing the Macy-street bridge on a bicycle yesterday morning. The planks were wet, the wheel slipped and the boy, who was going at a rapid pace, was thrown violently against an iron post. His skull was fractured and blood oozed from his ears, eyes and nose. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Bryant attended to his injuries. His recovery was at first deemed doubtful, but yesterday evening he had railled so far as to be able to be on his feet.

A Portsmouth (N. H.) liveryman failed for $12,000 the other day. He says bicycles ruined his business, for three years ago he was worth $40,000.

Dam is Safe-Local Notes

and Items.

(SAN DIEGO, Sept. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.) Several weeks ago enepties of the Flume Company directed he attention of the Supervisors to the recently-completed La. Mesa reservoir dam as being liable to wash out and, therefore, a menace to life. The Supervisors referred the matter to the county law officer for an opinion. Such a grave implication as this questioning of the sarety of a newly-built dam was supposed to have some foundation, as the matter was printed in the editorial columns of the morning paper, apparently with a sincere desire to protect the people. It appears that this charge against the Flume Company was absolutely groundless. On Thursday James D. Schuyler, an engineer of national reputation, published a long report on the construction of the La Mesa dam in which he pronounced the work as absolutely safe. This report is based on a thorough examination of the dam during the construction. The result is that he simply nails another lie which enemies of the Flume Company have so industriously circufated in their efforts to prove that San Diego lacks water.

Last night at 11:30 o'clock Banks appeared at a friend's house in this city and got his supper. He had every appearance of fear and excitement. Later he applied to another friend for a place to sleep until morning, when he said he was to sail on a ship leaving for the North, Room was denied him and he left. Officers started out this morning, but failed to find any trace-of Banks, until this atternoon, when a telephone message from Old Town was received, saying that a man answering Banks's description had been seen walking north on the railroad. Chief of Police Brenning and Deputy Sheriff Johnson have gone out on the train. It is expected that Banks will be captured before night. He will be required to explain his presence near the camp where the murders occurred.

AZUSA VALLEY.

AZUSA. Sept. 12.—(Regular Corspondence.) The new cement pipe-line at Glendora is now delivering the water purchased from the McArthur tunnel by Messrs. Moore, Wamsley, Cook and Engelbardt. The line is 8000 feet long, and was constructed by B. R. Davisson of Duarte, of eight and ten-inch pipe.

N. W. Stovell of Los Angeles has just finished twenty-five miles of coment pipe for the Asusa Irrigating Company, and the pipe is principally delivered over the lines and most of it laid. This irrigating company, composed of 170 land-owners here, has spent over $130,000 in the last two years in piping their lands, the last portion of the works just completed costing $50,000. When it is considered that this expenditure will save at least 25 per cent, over the mud ditches formerly used in the distribution of the waters, and that the economy of actual irrigation is great, the cost of this mammoth plant is not so great. But it gives an idea of the wonderful faith the old settlers of this valley have in its future.

Mr. Stowell will finish the entire system and turn it over to the company early in October.

The new local news agent, J. R. King, reports that he secured forty new subscribers to the principal Los Angeles dally at San Dimas in one day's canvass. The papers will be served direct from the depot at that place, a convenience not hitherto enjoyed.

The Chamber of Commerce is now fairly at work along the lines intended by its projectors. On last Tuesday evening A. P. Griffith, W. R. Powell and J. E. Guy were elected to membership, making twenty-six now enrolled. The "kickers," i. e., the fruit-growers outside the regular association, have announced a meeting at Slauson's Hall for next Saturday. Last season they were organized as the Azusa Valley Citrus Association and shipped about eighty carloads of oranges through the Earl Fruit Company, under contract, by which the growers were guaranteed prices equal to those current in the regular exchange.

Covina since Tuesday has enjoyed direct connection with Los Angeles over the new Southern Pacific line at the regular fare. For two or three weeks the, new line has been under control of the construction department, which charged inordinate rates to the city.

Messrs. Woodward, Hay, Hanly and Field of the Board of Supervisors were here Tuesday overlooking the area proposed for our new town incorporation. They were driven over the territory by the local committee, and were afterward dined at the Hotel Azusa. In the afternoon they were taken in tow by Road Overseer West and shown some of the worst roads on the planet.

The officials of the Azusa Valley Bank have applied for a telephone line right-of-way extending to Covina, to connect the branch institution with the bank here. Both banks are under the same management, and the new line will make them practically one in the transaction of daily business.

REDLANDS, Sept. 13.—(Regular Cor respondence.) The semi-annual conven-tion of the Christian Endeavor Union respondence.) The semi-annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, which is being held today in the First Congregational Church of Redlands, is by far the largest convention the union has ever held, and is being characterized with snap, enthusiasm and zeal. At the beginning of the afternoon session there were estimated to be over two hundred delegates present, and the coming of each train brought additional members. At 9:45 o'clock a.m. Etta Conner of Colton, president of the Christian Endeavor Union, in a few well chosen words called the convention to order, after which William Fowler of Redlands conducted devotional exercises. John P. Fisk, Jr., of Redlands gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Miss Alberta Hartzell. Committees were appointed on suggestions, resolutions, sociability and business. After the roll-call of societies four new societies were admitted into the union. "Ye are Christ's," was the theme of an able address by C. W. Janes, general secretary of the Y.M. C.A. of Riverside. He emphasized Christ's atonement, and said that consecration came before service.

Fruits of the true Christian as manifested in "Home Life" was presented by May Hancock, Riverside; "School Life," Cora Wallace, Highland; "Business Life," St. Clair Bidgood, San Bernardino; "Social Life," May Hartley, Colton.

Open parliament followed each of hese addresses, and was entered into eartily by the delegates.

The afternoon session was opened by promise and praise service, led by irnest Smith, president of the Junior Phristian Endeavor Union. "What Are by Doing for Missiohs?" was responded by delegates who gave interesting reports.

The old adage, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise;" was the reason why our ancient physicians kept the science of medicine in a dome of mystery, and even swore their new apostles to secresy to hide their ignorance from the public. Crops and Markets

The weather has been more ble during the past week, the sun hav-ing shown itself early every morning and fruit that was backward is begin-

Supplies of fresh fruit have been coming in liberally, with prices rather in buyer's favor. From the northern part of the State it is reported that the only fruit in active demand is Bartlett pears, which are sought for by canners at about $40 per ton. From the raisin-producing section it is reported that the first crop of grapes very fine and the yield will be in excess of any season on record. The California Fruit-Grower says:

"No doubt the maximum yield of raisin grapes in California has been reached, for some years at least. London layers are firmly held by reliable packers at $1,10 f.o.b. Reports are at hand regarding sales at $1.07\% and as low as $1.05 per box, but we fall to confirm such reports. Three and two crown loose are firm at 3 and 2\% cents respectively. Lower offers are being submitted, but turned down. Early shipments will be light, owing to cool weather."

For dried fruits the demand is slow So far the short crop of apricots does not appear to have had the effect of largely increasing prices, but growers are looking for an improvement before long. The prune crop, it is said, will be much larger than was at first ex-pected. Estimates now place the crop of 1895 at 50,000,000 pounds of cured fruit. The outlook is for good prices during the present month. California does not monopolize the production of prunes. The prune crop of Washingthe Seattle Times. This is about four times as great as last year's product. The sales of last year in the East were so satisfeatory that inquiries for the it year's product are very numer-

The Walla Walla Statesman gives the following good advice to fruit-growers: following good advice to truit-growers:

"The best thing for the shippers in this valley to do, it seems, would be to club together and hire trus-worthy men in each of the principal Eastern markets to take care of and dispose of the fruit. If this were done it would be to the mutual advantage of all and tend to increase the price of this product, from which we should derive a much larger revenue." larger revenue.

According to the Riverside Press orange-growers in that section intend to nip some fruit East about Thansgiv-The Hart's Tardif orange is very late one-so late in fact that it be easily converted into an early one. That is to say, instead of pick-ing the fruit in July and August as usual, it is proposed to let it remain upon the trees until November and Dember. The remarkable keeping qualities of the fruit easily lend themselver to this scheme, as our Riverside friends put dead ripe, sweet, juicy oranges into

The local market for general produc has been steady, without any special noteworthy features. The demand this year is keeping up better than usual, which is doubtless attributable to the activity in business and the steady in-

A Neglected Citrus Fruit.

There are other varieties of citrus fruit besides the orange and lemon to which those California fruit-growers who have lands adapted to citrus culture might profitably devote a portion of their attention. It is only recently that any attempt has been made to produce lemons here on a commercial scale, and so far the demand for Caliof the supply. By devoting a portion of the area in this section that is suited to the culture of citrus fruits to other varieties than the orange there would be less prospects of overdoing the mar-ket for the latter fruit.

In addition to the lemon there are several varieties of the citrus family that deserve more attention than they have received in this section. Among these are the citron, the lime, and the ber of grape fruit trees are being planted out just now, owing to the large prices that have been received for the fruit during the past season. The cit-ron has so far been almost entirely neglected, a few trees being grown here and there, more as curiosities than otherwise, although samples of crystallized citron which have been handled by grocery stores are declared to be fully equal in flavor to the imported fruit, though not so attractive in appearance, but then the bright green color of some of the imported fruit is said to be produced by means of mineral dye, which may be pretty, but is not healthy. The lime is another than the color of the druit family which is viriety of the citrus family which is of grown in Southern California on a commercial scale, although it thrives the more protected stretches of untry found in Southern California. It is seen growing here and there as a tall hedge around a farm or garden, which is often loaded with fruit in all which is often loaded with fruit in all stages of development. Limes consumed in Los Angeles come from Mexico, reaching here by way of San Francisco. There seems to be no reason why Southern California should be sending away money for this fruit when it can be produced successfully at home. A dispatch from San Francisco announces that there is going to be a sharp advance in the price of limes. The Mexican fruit that for years has been retailed for 5 cents a dozen is going to jump to the dignity of the price of first-class lemons. The limes will cost ff cents a dezen in a week or two

All the limes brought to that port re from Acapulco, and the trade is aly controlled by a few firms—J. Ivan-ovien & Co., Garcia & Magginni, L. G.

000 of them in all for California and the Pacific Coast trade. Ivancovich & Co. and Garcia & Magginni formed a combination and succeeded in buying out all the importers excepting Sresovich. They also bargained for the cargo now on the way, which will amount to about 800 boxes, and Sresovich, who was not prepared for such a move, will be the only com-petitor and with a small stock. The dealers say that the fruit, which has been selling at $2.50 a box, has already gone up to $5 a box, and that next week the price will reach $7 at least. This price will be higher than it has ever een in that city.

Those owners of citrus land who de years to the culture of the citron, lime and pomelo are likely to make mor money than the orange-growers. I will be some years before even the Pa-cific Coast market for these three fruits can be supplied, and after that is done there is plenty of room for a large output in the markets east of the Moun-

Eastern Liars.

The New York Times recently contained an editorial from which the following extract is made:

tained an editorial from which the following extract is made:

"Nobody but a liar can remember when there were better peaches to be had in New York than there are today. At this time last year we were relying exclusively upon the peaches of California.

"We would not willingly do an injustice to the fruit manufacturers of the Golden State. They have shown a highly commendable spirit of enterprise from the first, when they confined their efforts to making handsome imitations of fruit. Even at that time their product made a very effective center-plece for a dining table, and left nothing to be desired if the host also provided his guests with fruit from other quarters for purposes of consumption. Of late years they have paid attention to flavor as well as to appearance, and latterly experienced persons have been surprised to discover that some California fruit might actually be good to eat. The oranges of this last season, in which the California fruit-maker thoughtfully pushed all the seeds into a compartment by themselves, were also good oranges. The grapes have been palatable for several years, and the time may come when the wine produced from them may really be poculent. But with respect to peaches, the California fruit-makers have not yet passed the initial stage of their experimentation. They make a tolerable imitation of a peach such as is also made by workers in wax. But it is still Dead Sea fruit, that tempts the eye but turns to ashes on the lips."

Since California has been making such an inroad on the Eastern fruit market the effect upon some of the At-lantic Coast journals appears to have been very disturbing, to judge from this and other articles of the same de scription which have appeared recently. The best proof of the falsity of this article is furnished by the active demand which exists, not only in New York, but also in England, for Cali-fornia peaches, at good prices.

excellent Concord grapes wer brought to The Times office this week by a gentleman who lives in the west ern part of the city, where he had grown them in his yard. They were sweet, thin-skinned and delicious. In this connection it should be noted that there is a good market in Los Angeles for Eastern grapes, such as the Concord and Catawba, especially among Eastern people who retain recollections of their early days. These grapes are quite scarce in the local market, and it is remarkable that portion of their land to producing them It is said that the grapes referred to retail in this market at 10 cents a at three or four pounds for a dime Profitable Prunes.

Returns are received every year from prune-growers which show that this is, in an average season, one of the mo profitable fruit crops that can be raised in Southern California. Some of the profits from prunes are equal to those which are obtained from a good orange orchard. The latest statistics of this kind that we have seen are given by the Hamilton (San Luis Obispo county) Advance, which tells of the outlook for a five-year-old prune orchard belonging to E. F. Baumard at that place The Advance says:

The Advance says:

"He has about four acres set out with about 140 trees to the acre. It is estimated that the yield will be upward of twenty tons to the acre. This, at current prices, would make the income from one acre of ground $280. Mr. Baumard has been offered $1000 for his prune crop on the trees and has refused, for he is confident that he can do better. The success of Mr. B. is success for every resident of Templeton, for it means fifty more just such orchards the coming year, with thirty-five to fifty new families coming to our thriving little town. It means a change from the unsatisfactory mode of tilling the soil and raising grain and by hard scrabble be just able to make both ends meet to the easier mode of fruit raising."

We publish today on this page an interesting paper read by John S. Calkins of Pomona, who is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on olive one of the foremost authorities on olive culture in California, before the Farmers' Institute meetings, on the olive as a family orchard tree, the olive in the household, and the advantages of California for producing the fruit.

The Times has for many years been an ardent and persistent advocate of the olive as one of the most valuable products of Sputhern California. It is pleasing to see that this grand fruit is beginning to be appreciated as it should be. Without the revenue that is derived from olive culture Italy and several other of the small European mingdoms would be bankrupt within a year.

The Family Olive Orchard.

family use has been sadly neglected, owing to the fact that the value of the product is not appreciated, and to the belief generally prevalent that it requires wide experience in the work and expensive machinery and apparatus to conserve the fruit or to convert it into oil. This belief is erroneous. I know of many instances of excellent pickled olives and of superior oilive oil having been made by inexperienced persons, with simple and cheap means; in fact, all the olive oil made in a small way which I have examined has been of exceptionally good quality. A careful person may soon learn to pickle olives so they will keep from one season to another, provided a sufficient quantity is put up to meet the wants of the family. Oilve oil may be made in considerable quantity with a portable cider mill, in the absence of more elaborate machinery. Some suggestions as to converting the oilves into pickles and oil may be found in a pamphiet on oilve culture which I will mail to all who write to me for it. Olive culture is as distinctively a domestic industry as is dairying, and can be made as useful an adjunct to the farm as the hen or the time-honored cow. It is, in many respects, emphatically the poor man's industry. The product of the family oilve orchard would be most valuable in the household, contributing greatly to its support and comfort, the surply is far short of the demand.

"A glance at some of its uses in the household may be timely. Olive oil is gradupily taking the value."

pius inding a ready sale, as the supply is far short of the demand.

"A glance at some of its uses in the household may be timely. Olive oil is gradually taking the place of codliver oil, being regarded superior to it. Up-to-date physicians are using alive oil freely in their practice. Dr. Remondino of San Diego, ex-president of the State Medical Society, etc., etc., recommends it for bladder and kidney affections, diarrhoea, dysentery, colicky pains, flatulence, constipation, scarlet fever, dropsy, yellow fever, neuralgia, rheumatism, gout, chronic skin diseases, as a vermifuge and for intestinal irritation; mixed with equal parts of lime water, for burns, scalds, powder wounds, skin abrasions and smallpox, also as an antidote for most cases of poisoning, excepting that of phoswounds, skin abrasions and smallpox, also as an antidote for most cases of poisoning, excepting that of phosphorus, when it should not be used. In a paper read at the 'Olive-growers' convention, he says: 'Americans should cultivate the taste and use of the 'Olive-growers' food for the variable and either-extermed weather of the middle regions, where animal fats would be injurious during the nearly tropical heat of the summer. Olives and olive oil are the provisions that nature has placed on the Western shores of our nation, whereby, in a dietetic sense, we have within our borders the means of combatting the variability of our continental climates, and of preventing, and thereby, to a certain extent, to aid in eradicating consumption and tendencies thereto, from the American people. We must cultivate a taste for olive oil,' and teach its uses as a necessary article of diet, and as a hygenic agent. We must encourage its production and stimulate the industry of olive-planting."

"Dr. E. A. Osborne, superintendent of the Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-minded Children, Glen Ellen, Cal., uses the following words in a pa-per read at the same convention: "As a practitioner in medicine I have, durper read at the same convention: As a practitioner in medicine I have, during the past few years, experimented with olive oil as a remedial agent. My results have been such as to lead unhestatingly to the opinion that the day is not far distant when the oil will be as well known but more highly prized as a reconstructive nutrient in certain conditions of disease than as an adjunct to the cook's armamentarium. The pharmaceutical properties will, when once understood, far overshadow the value of the oil to the cuisine. In making this assertion I do not for a moment under-estimate the virtues of a pure oilve oil as an article of diet. The use of olive oil in medicine has scarcely yet become formulated, nowithstanding it has been known for years to possess nutrient, emollient, demulcent and laxative properties. It has been slighted by the profession, who have falled to appreciate the wealth of healing stored up within its amber recesses. It is so bland, so palatable, so easily digested, or, if the digestion is seriously impaired, it is so easily absorbed by the skin that it stands quite alone, its use is attended with no intricate manipulation, the sense of relief afforded to the patient is almost immediate, especially from its inunction and the strengthening, reconstructive effect upon the tissues is immediate, sturdy and permanent."

"Dr. C. R. Early of Ridgeway, Pa., writes to the Rural Press, San Francisco, as follows: 'I use olive oil and no other remedy for rattlesnake bites. I have had large practice in that line, and never fail to cure, giving it In doses of a tablespoonful every few minutes, a half dozen doses being generally all that are required. The wound should also be scarified at once and packed with oilive oil. It is a sure remedy for gallstones. I use it also in hemorrhoids of long standing, to be taken mixed with wine."

with wine."

"Abroad, olives and olive oil have afforded substantial food and a valued remedy for centuries to millions of people, being better suited to the climate of the olive belt than animal food; dyspepsia, so general in this country, is uncommon where the olive is an ordinary article of food. The ripe olive, properly pickled, is one of the most wholesome, delicious and nourishing foods known to mankind, while dried olives are highly esteemed and largely used by many people. In the making of salads olive oil is indispensable. Wherever lard or butter is used as in shortening or frying, it is a superior substitute, besides it withstands a higher degree of temperature without burning than either, and in that respect it is very desirable for cooking purposes. A half glass of orange juice mingled with a little olive oil is unsurpassed as a palatable and nourishing drink.

"In soap-making, if olive oil is used drink.

"In soap-making, if olive oil is used instead of grease, the soap is superior to any other kind made. Here is some olive oil soap made by the Montecito Manufacturing Company of Santa Barbara, probably not equaled by any other soap in the market. This bottle contains an emulsion of their oilve oil, and here is some candy made by the same company, and by L. Z. Ramey of Bush & Co., Pomona. It contains 40 per cent. oilve oil.

"The waters of our shares absured in company, and by L. Z. Ramey of Bush & Co., Pomona. It contains 40 per cent. olive oil.

"The waters of our shores abound in genuine Mediterranean sardines, and families living near the coast might put them up in home-made offive oil for future use, thus supplying themselves with a luxury that cannot be equaled by the imported article. Owing to the high price of olive oil, it may not be practicable to use it as freely as indicated, but if the olives are produced and converted into oil on the farm it will be found cheaper for the purposes named than any other material. While our climate is similar to that of the olive regions of Europe, indicating the utility of substituting olives and olive oil in a great measure for meat, the conditions here for producing the truit are superior to the conditions of those regions. There the land is in a greater or less degree worn out, here we have a virgin soil, rich in lime and potash, the chief constituents required by the olive tree; certain diseases of the tree, owing to an impoverished soil, so common there, are unknown here. There the dacus fly and other insect pests prevail which we do not have to contend with here. There, sheltered locations and favorable exposures must be selected that the trees may not be injured nor destroyed by occasional hard freezes, while in our more friendly climate such an occurrence has never befallen the olive tree, even in our coldest sections, so far as I know. There the trees do not come into bearing until they have been planted some six or seven years, while they begin to bear here in three or four years, notably those trees raised from small cuttings rooted under glass, a method of propagation originating in this State and practically unknown in that country. There, trees 40 years old are said to be no larger than trees here less than half that age. Besides, their olive culture is chiefly in the hands of an ignorant class, without progressive ideas, and with little inclination to cope with the difficulties which attend every industry, while here we have an intelligent people, whose genius for mastering industrial problems is proverbial, who, as the industry develops in this country, will adopt methods of culture adapted to our environment and devise means of conserving the fruit and conventing it into oil superior to any process now practiced.

"Animal food is becoming scarcer, and the world's future supply of it is one of the 'live questions of the day. In the products of the olive tree we have an invaluable substitute. As this State possesses unequaled advantages for producing that substitute, and as our people are beginning to grasp the situation, and are preparing to meet the demand, it needs no prophet to tell us that the olive groves of California are destined to become one of 'her chief sources of revenue, and to earn for her a world-wide celebrity.

Beet Pulp for Cattle. At the Chino beet-sugar factory so experiments have been made in regard to feeding a certain quantity of sugarbeet pulp each day, in addition to hay, to cattle. Speaking on the subject s few days ago, a representative of the company said they were now feeding on the ranch at the factory 1600 head of cattle, a large number of which had been sent all the way from Arizona to be fattened. The cattle are divided into corrals, a small number only in each to avoid crowding. It has been found that each animal will eat one and a half tons of beet pulp a month. In addition to this, they are given about seven pounds of hay each per day. This hay is grown on the Chino ranch, and is called prairie hay, being very similar to the prairie hay which grows in Kansas. The company charges $5 a ton for the hay fed to the cattle. With beet pulp at 50 cents a ton and hav at $5 a ton, it make the total cost of feed for each animal, $1.25 a month.

Experience shows that cattle fed or this beet pulp, with the addition of a small quantity of hay, make the best beef marketed. Cattle that have beer run down take on flesh quickly, the meat leing tender and juicy. There is just enough sugar and starch left in the pulp to make up for the deficiency of the same in ordinary pasture, while the addition of a small quantity of hay each day helps to assimilate the beet pulp and prevent overloading of the Several dairymen, who have been us ing beet pulp as fodder, have written to the Chino Sugar Company testifying to ninety head, says he feeds about ninety pounds a day of beet pulp, and ter ounds of hav each day to each animal and that since using the pulp the cows give more milk and of a better quality It has been noticed by some dairymen that after beginning to feed beet pulp the flow of milk will slightly decrea but after a few days an increase is seen Mr. Noland gives the result of three On pulp feed four milkings averaged 133 1-5 pounds each. In dairying regions the average fertility of the soil is of a higher standard than that prevailing in any other part of the country, and one of the greatest benefits that dairying is conferring upon agriculture in general is the improvement of the soil. While the soil is slowly but steadily deteriorating in the corn and wheat regions, it is universally improving in the dairy regions. In the Eastern States, where dairying is carried on extensively, many old worn-out farms have been gradually restored to their former pristing strength and productiveness, and if farmers should take some of these farms, that twenty years ago would scarcely raise anything, they would find that enormous crops of grain or vegetables or fruits could be produced.

As the school year opens, attention is directed to the oft-repeated advice of leading educators, warning teachers, parents and scholars against the fearful results of exhaustive brain work among young people.

To thousands of girls and boys, unnerved by the strain of school life, Paine's Celery Compound (which was first prescribed by America's great teacher, Prof. Edward E. Some time ago a German inventor announced his "patent" process of ripening cream with muriatic acid, and as I had tried that on a small scale years ago, and John Boyd on a larger scale, the announcement amused me a great deal. The German Experiment Station tested it and got the same results as we did.

Now another inventor tells a similar story about ripening the cream with lactic acid and H. Tieman of the Kiel Experiment Station reports a series of careful experiments in Milch Zeitung, and comes to the same result again—lack of flavor. While these and a great many other acids seem to be able to put the cream in a good mechanical condition for churning in a very short time, the development of the fine aromatic flavor evidently requires time. This I experimented on before Storde's bacteria 18 or Conn's 41 was heard of, and I satisfied myself that there was nothing in it.

The low prevailing price of wheat has induced some of the farmers in the San Joaquin Valley to go rather extensively into the raising of corn. On one patch of 140 acres near Stoskton it is estimated that the crop will run as high as 120 bushels to the acre. The care of corn involves a little more expense than that of wheat, but the increase of income will more than make up for the difference.

The recent recommendation of Paine's Celery Compound by Principal Camp of New Haven, and the equally outspoken praise of this greatest of remedies by ex-President Cook of the National Teachers' Association, are two of the thousands of such testimonials from parents and teachers throughout the country.

PASADENA.

A Fraud Bond Scheme-Thrilling Ad venture of a Chinese Plowman-A Grand Army Campfire—Hende Implicates Another in His Theft.

PASADENA, Sept. 13,-(Regular Correspondence.) Attention was called in the issue of The Times today to a woman who has been operating a raf-fling enterprise in town, and today a man bearing upon his countenance the cent per cent. mark of the children of Jacob, has been busy among the work-ing classes working a bond scheme, which is said to be a rank fraud, and against which the people are warned. He asks an advance assessment upon his bonds, which he claims are the same as all United States government bonds though issued by European governthough issued by European governments. He says that the only difference between the two is that the accrued interest is paid partially to each holder, and partly distributed in the way of prizes, determined by the number of the bond, and awarded by regular redemption. He glibly assures his would-be dupes that these bonds are sold on all the exchanges, and recognized everywhere as negotiable, and that they can always be sold and cash realized on them by every holder, no matter how many redemptions he has been a party to. The bond subject is, to so many people, such a deep mystery, and this intelligent Hebrew gentleman seems to know so much about it, that they are impressed with the safety and legality of the plan, and are suited is a certain and safe thing, and withal profitable. The police are looking for the fellow, and if they catch him he will have a chance to do a private "redemption" or "bond" act.

A Chinaman by the name of Wong Gun met with an accident tonight about 7:30 o'clock, near the electric powerhouse. Wong is blind in one eye, and in driving across the electric track did not see the car, which was approaching from the north. He felt it with terrific force a few minutes afterward, and it was thought for a time that he was fatally injured. His wagon was smashed and both horses badly hurt, and he himself was picked up unconsclous and taken to the hospital, where Dr. Hodge attended him. He was found to have escaped with severe contusions about head, and bruises about the body, and will probably recover.

CELESTIALS COME TO GRIEF.

The Pasadena celestial does not seem to be "onto the curves" of the equine quadruped, so to speak, and several times in the last few months that fact has been demonstrated. Today two celestials came to grief through their handling of horses. Ah We has avegetable garden and this morning he was plowing up the same previous to his fall planting of winter vegetables. It was much as Ah We could do to handle the "Melican mans" plow, and he therefore wrapped the lines about his neck. The horse was young and frisky, and, after a little, he took fright at some object and dashed away, dragging Ah We behind him. When the beast was stopped the Chinaman was found to be badly frightened and had a dislocated shoulder. He was taken to the hospital where Dr. Hodge repaired him and sent him home. Another Chinaman, a vegetable vender, was driving a team of young horses this forenoon, and, while John was on his way to a house to sell his wares, leaving the team to its own devices, it started to run. The celestial made a dash for the horses, seized the lines and pulled them the wrong way, overturning the cart which fell upon him in such a manner that his arm was badly hurt.

HENDEL CONFESSED. L. V. Pierce, whose loss of household urniture was reported in The Times Thursday, went to Los Angeles today to interview William Hendel, accompanied by Mr. Hobson. Hendel made a full confession implicating James A. Bärker. He said that on the day before he sold the still he went by to Barker's house the stuff he went up to Barker's house in the evening and Mrs. Barker warned him to leave because Barker was looking for him. He says he then returned to Pierce's house and soon after he had gotten there Barker came in and told him that on account of a certain offense which Hendel had committed and which Hendel could not deny, he intended to kill him if he did not give him $50. Hendel says he convinced Barker that he had only $3 and gave him the money. Barker, so he says, then proposed that he should sell Pierce's furniture and give him the proceeds of the sale and Hendel agreed to do so. The next day, so Hendel asserts, he went down town and made arrangements for the sale, and he says that when the furniture was removed Barker was in the upper part of Pierce's house. He says that he received $20.50 for the furniture, of which he gave $12. He says he bought a revolver with some of the money and had $6.50 of it when arrested. He expresses a perfect willingness to appear as a witness against Barker, and Mr. Pierce says warrents will at once be sworn out for his arrest. Whether Hendel has concocted the story to screen himself or whether there is truth in it remains to be seen. Mr. Pierce does not hold the theory that Hendel is insane or has ever been demented. His connection with the Barkers was entirely unknown to Pierce, who was well acquainted with him.

LOST HIS FAMILY.

Thomas Atkinson, an old man from Antelope Valley, has had some very bitter experience since his arrival in Sants Ana, day before vesterday morning. He has lost his entire family, and, up to this evening, despite his constant vigil on the streets and in public places, has been unable to obtain the slightest clew to their whereabouts. Mr. Atkinson's son-in-law, Josiah Williams, with his wife and sister and six little children, came down from Antelope Valley by rail about ten days ago and located somewhere in this vicinity. The father-in-law followed them later, making the trip with a team and wagon, it being understood that Williams would meet him upon his arrival here. But, for some unaccountable reason, neither. Williams nor any member of his family has shown up. The old man feels very gloomy over his situation, and passes hour after hour on the street corners, anxiously scrutinizing ever passerby, hoping to meet his relatives, or some one who can tell him where they are. A strange fact in connection with the Williamses's disappearance is that their goods are still at the depot in this city, and have never been called

The bicycle men in and around Santa Ana are now all on the alert, and preparations are going merrily on for the opening of the new athletic grounds next Wednesday.

Entries are now coming in every day from Riverside, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and other Southern California towns, and the fact is assumed that the crack riders from Southern California intend to try Santa Ana's new bicycle track.

President Monaghan of the local wheelmen informed the Times representative today (Friday) that both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads would give reduced rates (one and one-third fares for the round trip) from all points in Southern California to Santa Ana on that date, and that from the interest manifested at other places recently where races were held he anticipated a big crowd at the opening of the grounds in this city. In addition to the spirited contests for valuable prizes there will be several starts made for new records. Secretary Olney received a letter today from Emil Uibricht of Los Angeles to the effect that Horace Slater would try for the Coast record, one mile, class B, paced, flying start, and that F. W. Holbrook would try for the Coast record, one-half mile, class B, paced, flying start, and that F. W. ELDRED WILL APPEAL. ELDRED WILL APPEAL.

Both the plaintiff and the defendant in the suit of A. Eldred vs. the City of Santa Barbara will carry the case to the Supreme Court. A few days ago the City Attorney was given instructions from the Council to appeal, and today the plaintiff filed a motion for a new trial, which is the first intimation that he intended appealing from the verdict and judgment of the lower court. The action was brought for $2400 damages for injury to property by the grading of a street, and the jury awarded Eldred $100, throwing the costs on the plaintiff.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 13.—(Regular Corespondence.) William Collier of Riverde and James Hill of Pasadena went to Elsinore yesterday, authorized to say for the Santa Fe Railroad Company to he people of Elsinore that they would build a branch line into the town the road to be continued on to the coal banks and clay beds by the owners of panks and clay beds by the owners of a certain amount. An impromptu meeting of the citizens was called yesterday evening, at which there was a large attendance. L. B. Peck was chosen chairman and H. I. Gruwell secretary. A resolution favoring the proposition met with much enthuslasm and was adopted by a unanimous vote. A committee of with much enthusiasm and was adopted by a unanimous vote. A committee of six was appointed by the Citizens' Improvement Association to procure the right-of-way as soon as it was determined by the railroad people where they wanted to run the line. James Baliour, one of the largest property-owners, realizing the advantage it would ro to Elsinore, said that he had a pretty fine house, but the company might run their road right through it, if necessary, to have the road. This line completed means much to Elsinore. It will be the only point in Southern California where hot springs are located that will have a railroad running to the springs. This will give Elsinore a great advantageover other hot springs points. Look for quite a boom at Elsinore in the near future.

Riverside people are still going to and returning from the different sea-coast and mountain resorts. Mrs. M. Vail goes to Los Angeles and Long Beach today. Miss Burt and Miss Lizzle Frost returned from the coast Thursday evening, where they have been sojourning for a number of weeks. Capt. J. M. Publicover of No. 688 Fourteenth street and family left yesterday for Long Beach, the captain and Mrs. Martin going by carriage and Mrs. Publicover and the grand-daughter going by train. They will remain during the month. C. D. Lindley and family of East Fifth street are again at home from the summer at the beach. Dr. W. B. and fro again for the past few days, a little more sun-tanned than usual.

There are quite a number of Riversiders who have not yet had their summer outing, it would appear from the number of announcements of those going to the seacoast and mountains. One particular reason of this, and the main one, is that there is a certain amount of work to be done in the orange orchards after the shipping season, which has but recently closed, is over, which must be done before the orange-grower can be spared, and he never neglects his orchard for pleasure. This thrift is what makes Riverside Valley one of the most beautiful spots on earth. One can pass orchard after orchard and no find a weed growing nor an ill-shaped tree, nor rubbish anywhere.

CHINO, Sept. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.) Sunday was a great day for the old-timers, and for a considerable number of the younger generation. Manuel Boca, not to be outdone by Maj. Rowland, on Sunday gave a barbecue in honor of a party of friends from San Bernardino. There were eighty-five old-time acquaintances, who came in on the motor and in its one modest little car they were packed like sardines. They were at once taken to Mr. Boca's ranch on arriving here, and were treated to a barbecue dinner that was a revelation of good things to some present who were unacquainted with old California hospitality and the luxuries of the days of old.

Among projected improvements in town is a sewer system. It is thought that a two or three-line system could be put in at a comparatively small expense, and by using the waste water from the factory, a nuisance could at once be abated and a big saving in expense made. The congregation B'nai B'rith listened to an excellent sermon hast evening on "Israel's Safeguard—Monotheism." Rabbi M. G. Solomon, a graduate of Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, has been temporarily engaged as rabbi, and will perhaps be retained permanently. He has a sympathetic voice and good delivery.

Rabbi Solomon said, in part: "Standing here as we are at present, strange and wondrous is the scene that meets the eye of imagination. There, in the background of the past, stand savage tribes, sword in hand, with slavery or death for all their enemies. One by one the nations rise and fall. The victor of today is the vanquished of tomorrow. Assyma, Greece and Rome have fallen in their turn.

"Yet, during all these changes, Israel has flourished as the bush ever burning yet never consumed. But why has Israel been preserved in all the storms of destiny? What has been the safeguard that has preserved our identity? It has been the strength of a pure monotheism.
